SELECT MISCELLANY.

ALETEA'S REVENGE.

It was in the month of June, 1858, that I found myself on one of those palatial boats which ride in state the dark and murky waters of the mighty Mississippi.

We floated down the river in majestic splendor, while all on board gave themselves up entirely to pleasure.

As usual, there was a motley collection of personages on the boat including Texan drovers, Yankee speculators, one tall wiry Kentuckian, returning hunters, and quite a number of planters, with their families.

As the evening wore on every one seemed bent upon enjoyment.

From the saloon the sweet strains of music floated out upon the air, while the giddy dancers went round in the intoxicating mazes of the waltz; on deck the young folks promenaded in the soft pale moonlight, and whisperd the old tale of love; and about the card-tables were gathered the rougher portion of the passengers.

In my wanderings my attention had been attracted by a young couple, whom, I concluded, from their unceasing attention to each other, were newly married.

The gentleman was apparently about twenty-seven years old, was of Spanish blood and possessed a handsome face and figure.

His companion was one of the most beautiful women I have ever seen.

She was a Creole, and like most of her blood, was the perfection of beauty.

She evidently put the greatest faith in her husband, and when she looked into his eyes, her own dark and liquid orbs seemed running over with love.

A closer acquaintance showed them to be all that I had expected.

The gentleman, Rodolfo Castanos, had come to the United States but recently, his home having been, for nearly all his life in Cuba.

His wife whom he addressed as "darling Aletea," was the daughter of one of New Orlean's wealthiest residents.

Castanos was immensly rich, as was evidenced by the costliness and elegance of his dress and the liberality of his dealings with all about him.

At one of the card tables there sat four men, lazily engaged in playing, when one well known as the most noted gambler on the river, who had several times killed his man, proposed that the Spaniard be invited to join them.

The companions of Bill Henry, the gambler, thinking they saw an opportunity to fleece one who was not, probably up to all their games, readily consented, and soon the young Spaniard was seated in earnest play with his four companions, while his beautiful wife, in the ladies, cabin, delighted the circle about her with her sweet voice.

I watched the playing with deep interest, as did a number of others who saw that a game of unusual interest was being played.

At first the four suffered Castanos to win, which he easily did, for he was a good player.

Soon, however, he lost, and then again; and he seemed to be conscious that he was being cheated.

He said nothing, however, although I could see that his face grew a shade paler and a determined look settled about his mouth.

At last a hand was dealt which the betting ran high. All the players seemed to have become excited, and Castanos lost his usual caution.

The stakes began to count up, and amounted to fifteen thousand dollars, when Castanos doubled them.

The excitement now became intense, and we crowded about the table in breathless silence.

The game proceeded, and Castanos had already taken two tricks, when one of his opponents threw on the fourth taick the ace of hearts.

"How is this?" exclaimed Castanos, springing up, and throwing down an ace of hearts from his hand. "There's villianly here," and cooly sweeping the stakes into his pocket, said, "When you are ready to play fairly, I will give you an opportunity of winning back what you have lost."

With a volley of oaths, the four sprang towards the Spaniard, their faces livid with passion, and, before any of the bystanders could interfere, the four cowards attacked him.

He fought well but what could he do against such great odds?

They overpowered him and were, taking the money from his pocket, when he disengaged his hand, and drew from his breast a pistol, which he presented at the head of one of the assailants.

But before he could fire, however, the weapon fell from his nerveless fingers, and he fell, with a heavy thud, back to the floor a corpse.

The spectators were all horrified as they gazed upon the body of the Spaniard, from which, from a stab in the breast, flowed the man's life blood.

At a little distance stood the four gamblers, now quiet, but seemingly determined to resist any attempt that might be made to arrest them, little of which there was, for they were men who were feared by the whole boat.

As we stood this, in mute horror at the scene befoe us, an unearthly, agonizing shriek smote our ears, and into the circle then rushed the Spaniard's wife.

We stood rooted to the spot, while in horror we gazed upon that scene.

She stood for a moment; then, falling upon the body, she gave vent to bitter cries, calling upon her Rodolfo to come back, and covering him with caresses.

Suddenly she sprang to her feet, and demanded who the murderers of her husband were.

On having them pointed out to her, she turned to them, and raising her eyes to Heaven, she said:—

"Heavenly Father hear me now, for I do solemnly swear that I shall not rest until these cruel murderers of Rodolfo are slain in cold blood by my own hand;" then turning her eyes upon them, said, with fearful distinctness, and in a voice, harsh and cruel, "you have heard my vow, and I will keep it to the bitter end."

She turned to go; but when her eyes again fell upon the body of her husband her eye rolled and glared, with a piercing shriek she rushed from the cabin, and plunged into the dark waters of the river.

Her clothes buoyed her up, however and before a boat could be lowered, she floated into an eddy, which carried her around close to the shore, when, still shrieking in her insanity, she worked her way to the shore, and climbing up the bank, was soon lost to sight in the woods.

At the next wood station the four blacklegs left the boat, much to the relief of the rest of the passengers.

At New Orleans the body of Castanos was delivered to his family, but all search for the insane wife proved futile.

She was nowhere to be found, and at last it came to be believed that she had perished in the swamp.

About a year after the tragedy I was, in the course of my business, called to a little town about sixty-five miles up the river, and when I arrived there, I found the whole town in a state of great excitement over a mysterious murder which had just been committed in the place.

George Harrison, a merchant of the town, so they told me, had on the previous evening, left his store at about ten o'clock for his home, and this morning had been found in the street dead.

There was no clue to the murderer; and what was the most mysterious thing of it all was that no marks of violence could be discovered on the body, except a small puncture of the skin on the left temple, around which the flesh was slightly discolered.

The whole affair was a nine days' wonder for the people of the place.

Before I left the place I went and saw the body of the murdered man, which I instantly recognized as one of the four who robbed and murdered Rodolfo Castanos some months before.

I instantly felt that he had met his just reward, but did not for a moment connect his death with the occurrence of the steamboat tragedy.

Some three or four months after this I read one day in a city paper the following:

MYSTERIOUS MURDER.—It will be remembered by our readers that on the 20th of September last a mysterious tragedy was enacted at ——, the victim being George Harrison, esq., a respected citizen of the place, Those who are familiar with the circumstances, know that the murder seemed to have been committed with some sharp, slender, instrument like a needle driven into the forehead. It becomes our painful duty this morning to record the perpetration of another cowardly murder in the same manner, and most likely by the same mysterious and singular assassin. Mr. Henry Marshall of ——, was yesterday morning found in his bed, cold in death, with no marks of violence to be found upon his body, except that invisible significant puncture on the temple which has now summoned two victims to their final account. The greatest excitement prevails in ——, and a large reward is offered by the authorities for the apprehension and conviction of the murderer. It is to be hoped that the author of these dastardly assassinations may be speedily brought to justice.

I recognized this fresh victim as another of those who had been engaged in the steamboat tragedy of the year before, and now, for the first time, a suspicion crossed my mind as to the identity of the murderer; and yet, when I reflected how gentle and pure a creature Aletea Castanos was it did not seem possible that she should have thus carried out the terms of that oath she made over the dead body of her husband, nor was it at all likely that she ever came out of that swamp into which she had disappeared on that memorable night.

But I communicated my suspicions to the proper authorities, and a diligent search was made for the unhappy woman, but without success.

In a short time the excitement caused by these murders had, in a great measure died out, one day it was redoubled by the report that a third man had fallen a victim—had fallen under the ghost-like assassin.

This time the unfortunate man was Paul Reignolds, a merchant up the river, who had been stricken down while passing through one of the principal streets of New Orleans in the evening.

When I read his name I instantly recognized him as another victim of Aletea Castanos, whom I was more fully pursuaded was the silent assassin, for Reignolds, too, was one of the murderers of the unfortunate Spanlard.

Renewed search was made for the miserable Aletea, but without success.

In June, 1859, just about a year after the murder of the Spaniard, I was again on one of the river boats, on my way to some of the upper towns.

As usual the card-tables were surrounded by players deeply engaged in their sport; and, among these was Bill Henry, whom I have before introduced to the reader.

His opponent was a man of singular beauty, with a slight, effeminate form, and an easy grace, that was sure to attract attention.

The two players were seemingly purely passing away the time, for thye played carelessly, while some of the bystanders were engaged in chaffing Bill in reference to the tragedy of the year before and the fate which seemed to hang over all the participants.

"Yer see, Bill," said one of the fellows, a brutal overseer of some plantation, "yer the last one left now, and yer turn comes next."

Bill's face assumed a paler hue, and his hand shook nervously, but he replied with a low, forced laugh—"No danger, Jack; I'm good for a half dozen Spanish dogs yet."

During this conversation the youth had remained quiet; but I had noticed the face grow ashen pale, the eyes to sparkle and the hands to twitch.

Scarcely were the brutal words out of the gambler's mouth, however, before the young man sprang up, and drawing from his breast a slendor sharp pointed instrument like an awl, tipped with some deadly poison, he plunged it into the gambler's temple to the brain.

The latter, without a groan, fell dead upon the floor, and before we could prevent, the youth had drawn a pistol and shot himself through the lungs.

I caught him as he was falling, and laying him upon one of the sofas in the ladies' cabin, I tore open his vest and shirt, that I might stanch his wound, when I discovered the youth was a woman!

She smiled calmly and peacefully as she saw that I had discovered her secret, and said, in a voice husky with the death-rattle in her throat:

"Yes, I have kept my vow. You saw my husband murdered, and heard my oath to avenge his death. I have done it, and now, Rodolfo! I am coming! Dear Ro——"

She sank pack, her eyes closed, there was one gasp, and Alketea Castanos was dead! Terribly had she kept her vow.

THE COINERS.

Notes from the Diary of a Detective.

During the year 1847 the West was flooded with counterfeit coin. It was so well manufactured that it passed readily. The evil at length became so great that the United States authorities requested that a skillful detective might be used to ferret out the nest of coiners. I was fixed upon to perform that duty.

I had nothing to guide me. The fact, however, that Chicago was the city where the counterfeit coin was most abundant led me to believe that the manufactory was somewhere inside its limits. I proceeded, therefore, to that metropolis of the west, and spent five weeks in the city without gaining the slightest clue to the counterfeiters.

I began to grow discouraged, and really thought I should have to return home without having achieved any result. One day I received a letter from my wife requesting a remittance of money, as she was out of funds. I went to a bank and asked for a draft, at the same time handing a sum of money to pay for it, in which were several half dollars. The clerk dashed three of them back to me saying, "Counterfeit!"

"What!" said I, "you don't mean to tell me these half dollars are counterfeit?"

"I do."

"Are you certain?"

"Perfectly certain. They are remarkably well executed but deficient in weight. See for yourself."

And he placed one of them in the balance against a genuine half-dollar, and the latter drew up the former.

"This is the best counterfeit coin I ever saw in my life," I exclaimed, examing them closely. Is all the counterfeit money in circulation here of the same character as this?"

"O dear, no;" the clerk replied. "It is not nearly so well done. These are the work of the famous New York counterfeiter, Ned Willett. I know them well, for I have handled a great many in my time. Here is some of the money that is circulating here," he added, taking some half-dollars from the drawer. "You see that the milling is not so well done as Ned Willett's, although this is pretty good, too."

I compared the two, and found that he was right. I supplied the place of the counterfeits with good coin, and returned the former to my pocket. A few days after this I received information which caused me to make a journey to a small village about thirty miles from Chicago. I arrived there at night, and took up quarters at the only tavern in the place. It was a wretched dwelling, and kept by an old man and woman, the surliest couple I think it was ever my lot to meet. In answer as to whether I could have a lodging there that night I noticed that the host gave a peculiar look at his wife, and after some whispering I was informed, in the most ungracious manner possible, I could have a bed.

I have frequently in the course of my life been obliged to put up with wretched accommodations, so I did not allow my equanimity of temper to be destroyed by the miserable sleeping apartment into which I was ushered after I had finished my repast.

The chamber was of small size, and certainly well ventilated, for I could see the stars through the roof. The bed was simply a bag of straw thrown in one corner of the room, without sheet or covering of any kind. This last fact, however, was not of much consequence, as it was summer and oppressively hot.

I stood more than an hour gazing out of the opening which served for a window. Before me was an immense prairie, the limits of which I could not see. The tavern in which I had taken up my abode appeared to be isolated from all other dwellings; and, save the croak of the tree frog and the hum of the locust, not a sound reached my ear. It was a beautiful moonlight night, so bright that I could read the smallest print.

At last I began to grow weary, and, throwing myself on my pallet, I was soon asleep. How long I slept I know not, but I was awakened by a dull sound, which resembled some hammering in the distance. I suppose it was the peculiarity of the sound which awoke me, for it was not loud, but conveyed to me the idea of some one striking iron with a muffled hammer. I rose from my bed and went to the window. The moon was now in the western horizon, by which fact I knew it must be near morning. The sound I have before referred to reached more distinctly than when in the back part of the chamber. It appeared to come from some out houses which were situated a hundred yards from the house.

Now I am naturally of an inquiring mind, and this sound, occurring as it did in the middle of the night, piqued my curiosity, and I felt an irrepressible desire to go out and discover the cause of it. The desire, as the sound continued, grew upon me with such intensity that I resolved to gratify it at any price.

I put on my boots, the only article of attire I had discarded, cautiously opened the door of my chamber, and noiselessly descended the rickety staircase. A few steps brought me into the lower apartment, which I found entirely deserted. I crept quietly to the window, and, unfastening it without making the slightest noise, was soon in the moonlight.

Not a soul was visible, but the sound I have mentioned grew much more distinct as I approached the place whence it proceeded. At length I found myself before a long, low building, through the crevices of which I could perceive a lurid glare issuing. I stooped down and peeped through the keyhole, and to my extreme surprise, I saw half-a-dozen men, with their sleeves up and coats off, performing a variety of occupations. Some were working at a forge, others were superintending the casting of molds, and some were engaged in milling coin. In a moment the whole truth burst upon me. Here was the gang of counterfeiters I was in search of, and the landlord and his wife evidently belonged to the same band, for in one corner I saw them employed—the man polishing off some half-dollar pieces, and the woman was packing the finished coin into rolls.

I had seen enough, and was about to return to my apartment, when I suddenly felt a heavy hand placed on my shoulder, and turning my head around to my horror I found myself in the grasp of as ill-looking a scoundral as ever escaped the gallows.

"What are you doing here, my good fellow?" he exclaimed, giving me a shake.

"Taking a stroll by moonlight," I replied, endeavoring to retain my composure.

"Well, perhaps you will just take a stroll inside, will you?" returned the ruffian, pushing open the door, and dragging me in after him.

All the inmates of the barn immediately stopped work and rushed toward us when they saw me.

"Why, what's all this?" they exclaimed.

"A loafer I found peepin' outside," said my captor.

"He's a traveler that came to the tavern last night and asked for a lodging; the last I saw of him he was safe in bed," said the landlord.

The men withdrew to a corner of the apartment, leaving one to keep guard over me. I soon saw they were in earnest consultation, and were evidently debating some important question.

The man keeping guard over me said nothing, but scowled fiercely. I had not said a single word during all the time I had been in the barn. I was aware that whatever I might say would in all probability do more harm than good, and it has always been a maxim of mine to hold my tongue when in doubt. At last the consultation seemed to be ended, for the blackest of the party came forward, and without any introduction exclaimed:

"I say, stranger, look here, you must die!"

I did not move a muscle or utter a word.

"You have found out our secret and dead men tell no tales."

I was silent.

"We will give you ten minutes to say your prayers, and also allow you the privilege of being shot or hung."

Suddenly an idea struck me. I remembered something that might save my life. I burst into a violent fit of laughter; in fact it was hysterical, but they did not know it: they looked at one another in amazement.

"Well, he takes it mighty cool, anyhow," said one.

"Suppose he don't think we are in earnest," said another.

"Come, stranger you had better say your prayers," said the man who had first spoken, "time flies."

My only reply was a fit of laughter more violent than at first.

"The man's mad," they exclaimed.

"Or drunk," said some.

"Well, boys," cried I speaking for the first time, "this is the best joke I have ever seen. What, hang a pal?"

"A pal—you a pal?"

"I ain't nothing else," was my elegant rejoinder.

"Did you ever hear of Ned Willett? I replied."

"You may be certain of that. Ain't he the head of our profession?"

"Well, then, I'm Ned."

"You Ned Willett?" they all exclaimed.

"You may bet your life on that," I exclaimed, swaggering up to the corner where I had seen the old woman counting and packing the counterfeit half dollars,

Fortune favored me. None of the men present had ever seen Ned Willett, although his reputation was known to them, and my swaggering, insolent manner had somewhat thrown them off their guard; yet I could plainly see that their doubts were not all removed.

"And you call these things well done, do you?" I asked taking up a roll of money. "Well, all I have to say is that if you cant do better than this, you had better shut up shop, that's all."

"Can you show us any better?" asked one of them.

"I rather think I can. If I couldn't I'd hang myself."

"Let's see it," they cried.

This was my last coup, and one on which my life depended.

"Look here, gentlemen," I exclaimed, taking one of the counterfeit half dollars from my pocket that had been rejected at the bank.—"Here is my last job, what do you think of it?"

It was handed from hand to hand, some saying it was no counterfeit at all, and others saying it was.

"How will you prove it is counterfeit?" asked one.

"By weighing it with a genuine one," I replied.

The plan was immediately adopted, and its character proved.

"Perhaps he got this by accident," I heard one man whisper to another.

"Try these," I said, taking the other two out of my pocket.

All the doubt vanished.

"Beautiful!" exclaimed some.—"Very splendid!" said others.

When they had examined them to their full satisfaction they all took me by the hand, every particle of doubt having vanished from their minds. I carried on my part well. Some questions were occasionly asked me involving some technicalities of the business; these, however, I avoided, by stating that I was on a journey, and would rather that a glass was produced, and we made a night of it. It was not until morning dawned that we separated.

The next morning I returned to Chicago and brought down the necessary assistance, and captured the whole gang of counterfeiters in the very act. The den was broken up forever, and most of them were condemned to serve a term in the State Prison.

I have those half dollars still in my possession, and never intend to part with them, for they were certainly the means of saving my life.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Sore Legs, Wounds, Ulcers, &c. can be cured. The rational treatment as indicated by nature, is to reduce the Local inflammation, sooth the neighboring nerves, cool the heated blood, and render the watery ichorous discharge consistent and healthy. Happily, Holloway's Ointment accomplishes these ends with unfailing certainty. 25 cents per box, or pot. 189

SIXTEEN YEARS OF SUCCESS.—In 1856 the now famous Mustang Liniment was first made known to the public by an extensive system of advertising. From that time to the present, the demand for it has been steadily increasing until it has taken the lead of all embrocations, lotions, ointments, and other external remedies, imported or domestic, ever introduced into the American market. In the most celebrated racing and trotting stables, in the establishments of stage and city car companies, and in the stables of private gentlemen, it is the only recognized cure for such diseases of the horse as require outward treatment. Nor is it less valuable as a local application for some of the most distressing complaints to which man is subject. Rheumatism, stiffness of the joints, neuralgia, sore-throat, tumors, wens, earache, toothache, yield to its pain-subduing, counter-irritant properties; and burns, scalds and cuts are healed with incredible rapidity under its operation.

It is supposed that the Herald correspondents sent in search of Dr. Livington is dead. An enormous corocodile captured near Unyanembe, Central Africa, last month, was cut open, and the bones of a man, a wallet containing pawn tickets, a Geneva watch and chain, together with several manuscript letters to the New York Herald, found in its stomach. The former appeared to have been easily digested, but it is thought the manuscript had chocked the monster, thus rendering him helpless.

BY HOMO.

MR. EDITOR: Your correspondent of the 24th ult., will oblige Homo and the readers of the ARGUS by answering the following question before he gives "further attention to the allegation made by the astute philosopher."

In The Banner of Light, July 8th, 1871, we find a record of the following conversation with a spirit:

"Q.—Can the intelligence tell us how many spheres there are in the future state of existence?

"A.—Just as many as there are different states of mind requiring different spheres; indeed they are numberless.

"Q.—I heard it stated, last night, that there were asylums—insane hospitals—in the spirit-world?

"It is so.

"Q.—Why do they have to have them there?

"A.—Because there is a necessity for them."

Will your correspondent inform us of what materials the hospitals are composed? Are they built of wood, stone, brick or iron? We conclude they must be very tight, or the disembodied insane ones would get out, greatly to the annoyance of the sane.

When the above is satisfactorily answered, we have a thousand others of the same import. More anon.

"Signs of the Weather."

Billings has turned weather prophet. Witness the following:

"When roosters are observed before daylite in the morning, soreing amung the klouds, and uttering lamentashuns, then look out for some sudden weather.

"When you see 13 geese, walkin injun file, and toein in, yu kan deliberately bet yure last surviving dollar on a hard winter, and a grate fluctousness during the next season in the price of cow hide boots.

"When spiders are seen climbing up the wall backwards, and frogs cough as though they had the hickups, look out for rain; this is also a sure sign that children will have the measles light.

"If bees hang round their hives, and mules are seen in a brown study, a storm ov some kind is cooking, and you will notis the market for herring is very shifty.

"Jist before a heavy sno storm, ov 3 foot deep, chimney swallows are uncommonly skarse, and in the moral world there is great lazyness in the agytation of the temperance question.

"If pigs squeal in the night, and mingle in free fight, yu ma hope for high winds in a few weeks, and also the typus fever in yur naborhood."

The Last Boy's Work.

The following "boy's composition" is the latest. The boy who "manufactured" it is bound to make his mark in the literary world; who knows but that some day he may be an editor?

"A goat is stronger than a pig, and gives milk. He looks at you. So does the doctor, but a goat has four legs. My goat butted Mr. Tillinghast in a bad place, and a calf wouldn't do so. A boy without a father is an orphan, and if he hasn't got a mother he is two orphans. The goat don't give so much as a cow, but more than ox. We saw one at a fair one day with a card tied to his left ear; he went in on a family ticket. Mother picks geese in the summer, and the goat eats grass and jumps on a box. Some don't like goats, but, as for me give me a mule with a point brush tail. The goat is a useful animal, but don't smell as sweet as nice bear's oil for the hair. If I had two much hair I would wear a wig, as Captain Peter does. I will sell my goat for three dollars and go to the circus to see the elephant, which is bigger as five goats. Father is comtng home to-morrow and the baby has got the croup badly,"

Liver, Life, Lungs.

The important bearing that these organs have in continuing a healthy existance makes it of paramount importance that they should be attended to when in a disordered and sickly state. We have often been startled in our public assemblies, whenever the speaker attempts to say something, at the hundreds of coughs which ring as though our throats were made of bellmetal or brass, instead of the fine tissues which line not only our throats, but even the minutest ramification of the bronchia and lungs. There is not one of these coughs that could not be cured in less than two days, by a timely application of a remedy such as DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, and many in less time. Many of them, if neglected, will undoubtedly lead to some fearful lesion of the throat or lungs, which may set all remedies to naught. The part of wisdom is begining in time, as "a little leak has been known to sink a great ship."

Chapped hands are very common with those who have their hands much in water. A few drops of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment rubbed over the hands two or three times a day, will keep them soft and white. Fishermen, sailors and others will do well to remember this.

A Fair Hit.

About the time the temperance reformation began, a well-disposed farmer told his hired man, that he thought of trying to do his work without rum, and asked him how mnch he should have to give him to do without it. The man told him that he might give him what he pleased.

"Well," said the farmer, "I will give you a sheep if you do without."

The oldest son then asked him if he would give him a sheep if he would do without rum,

"Yes," said the father, "you shall have a sheep if you will do without."

The youngest son then asked if he would do the same by him.

"Yes, Chandler," was the reply, "you shall have a sheep too, if you will do without rum."

Presently Chandler asked, "Father hadn't you better take a sheep too?" This was a home question; the father had hardly thought that he could do without the "good creature" but this appeal was not to be disregarded. The result was, that rum was at once banished from the premises.

The Times says Dr. Walpole has lost his beautiful chestnut mare. She died suddenly in harness, it is supposed from bots or pin-worms.—If the Doctor had used Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, he would no doubt have had his mare to-day; they are death on worms.

A diffident youth was paying his addresses to a gay lass of the country, who had long despaired of bringing things to a crisis. He called one day when she was alone. After settling the merits of the weather, the girl said, looking slyly into his face; "I dreamed of you last night." "Did you? Why, now!" "Yes; I dreamed that you kissed me." Why, now? What did you dream your mother said?" "Oh, I dreamed she wasn't at home." A light dawned on the youth's intellect, a singular sound broke the stillness, and in a few weeks they were married.

THE Radical of last Friday charges us with forging the telegram in last week's ARGUS, "signed J.S. Rutan." The charge is untrue in every particular. The communication and telegram were sent to us by a responsible party, and we published the latter precisely as we received it. Hence, whether it is genuine or otherwise we had no hand in getting it up.

WE are told that a rumor prevails in several localities of this county that J. F. Dravo esq. intends, in the course of a week or two, to withdraw his name as a candidate for the State Senate. We have authority for stating that he has no intention of doing anything of this kind. He has allowed the use of his name in connection with the office referred to, and respectfully solicits the support of the Republicans of the county.

A COMMITTEE of the Central Working men's Union of the State of New York, appointed for the purpose, met Thursday evening last, and drew up a call for a National Convention, to be held on May 23d in New York City, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President of the United States. They lay down as their platform the reduction of the national debt, maintenance of a high tariff, unconditional settlement of the Alabama claims or war to the knife, enforcement of the eight-hour law, and reduction of the rate of interest by a national act.

THE Radical of last week is quite liberal in the use of names when it refers to the ARGUS or its editor.—It seems to have "Dolly Varden" on the brain. Now to us, the name "Dolly Varden" is not particularly offensive, and if we had a choice in the matter, we would rather be called a "Dolly Varden Editor," than be known among our fellow citizens as a "political broker," a "lobbyist," or "a man who cannot be trusted out of sight." After all names amount to but little. What is required of all of us in this life is to act justly, and to see to it that after we are gone it cannot be truthfully told our children that their parents bartered away their influence, sold their votes, helped to plunder the State, or left them a dollar illegitimately acquired. If we can work our way through the world and leave such a record behind us, the measure of our ambition will be filled, and Col. Quay, in the meantime may call us just what he pleases.

THE Cincinnati Convention, after a three day's session, adjourned on last Friday. The proceedings throughout were about as harmonious as they usually are in gatherings of that kind. The platform adopted by the Convention is a good one, but whether the ticket nominated will prove acceptable to a majority of the voters of the country remains to be tested in November. Horace Greeley of New York was nominated for the Presidency on the sixth ballot, and B. Gratz Brown of Missouri took the second place on the ticket on the first ballot. Of course, if the Democrats nominate a separate ticket, these gentlemen stand no chance for an election. In that event General Grant's success is assured. On the other hand, however, if the Democrats should adopt Greeley and Brown as their candidates, the contest will be a close one with the chances in favor of the ticket already in the field. With a combination of this kind, Greeley and Brown would carry every Southern State, and to the column would be added such states as Connecticut, New Hampshire, New York, Indiana and with equal chances in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Illinois and Michigan. It is hardly probable, though, that the Democrats will accept Greeley as a candidate. He has fought their organization with terrible earnestness for years gone by, and his hand has directed some of the heaviest blows it ever received. Whether its members will forgive and forget all this, and give him their support for the highest office in the Nation, is the question of the hour. If they conclude to do so, he will very likely reach the Presidential chair; if they decline to render him their support, Grant's re-election, we repeat, is a foregone conclusion.

THE latest advices from Washington would seem to indicate that our Government is going to back down squarely, and withdraw our claims for indirect damages—caused by the depredations on our Commerce by the pirate Alabama—against Great Brittain, before the Geneva arbitrators. This course of Secretary Fish seems to meet with almost unanimous disapproval alike from friend and foe of the Administration. A member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee says he could not believe Secretary Fish had written a letter to Gen. Schenck withdrawing that portion of the claims, for he thought that, had the Secretary entertained any intention of backing from the position he had assumed, he would, when he talked with Mr. Banks about passing the Peters' resolution, have given that gentlemen some intimation of it, or at least would not have been so anxious that Congress should do nothing in the matter. The natural course, said the gentleman, would have been to say, "Oh, yes, we have got to come to some understanding about this matter, or the arbitration will break down. Now I have no objection to having the House of Representatives share the responsibility with the Administration." But, on the other hand, at the very time that he was talking so bravely to Mr. Banks about standing by our case, and refusing to withdraw or modify, it now turns out that he was carrying on a private correspondence with Gen. Schenck, for the purpose of preparing the way for a complete and unconditional surrender. Mr. Sumner is reported to hold that it is the height of folly to think of making a supplementary treaty of the kind proposed, and that no man at all familiar with international law would for a moment think of such a thing. Mr. Edmunds, too, despite the fact that he is one of the strongest supporters of the Administration, is said to be very indignant at the weakness that has been displayed in managing our case, and this feeling is apparently shared by other prominent friends of Gen. Grant, among them Speaker Blaine and the majority of the foreign Committees of both Houses. It is reported, on the best authority, that the attempt to throw the blame for presenting the claims for indirect damages, in their present shape, so objectionable to Great Britain, entirely on Bancroft Davis, is very unfair toward that gentlemen. The Case, as originally prepared by Mr. Davis, contained indirect references to the disputed consequential damages.—Mr. Fish afterward caused Mr. Caleb Cushing to strike out of the several chapters of the case all reference to the consequential damages, and prepare a new chapter, in which they were set forth by themselves.

THE editor of the Pittsburgh Gazette was grossly attacked, insulted, maligned and abused by the Beaver Radical last week—charged with being a "liar," &c., and threatened with a damaging exposure of his political action in the past. The Gazette, in reply, says the editor of the Radical "is smarting severely under the lash "of public opinion, he foolishly calls "people "liars," and utters threats "which he vainly presumed would "frighten us into silence. Mr. M. S. "Quay will find that his threats are "as insignificant as his political character is loathsome to men who are "moved by honest convictions, and "who respect themselves."

The Gazette need have no fear of any fight from either Quay or Rutan. Their political tactics move them to bluster and provoke a newspaper war; and, so soon as their glove is picked up by an adversary, they resort at once to courts of law for an action of libel. This was the course pursued toward the Commercial and the Argus three years ago, and they are now again threatening the latter with a prosecution. They think such a course will have the double effect of silencing the press and creating sympathy with the voting public. They are a brace of great babies—pleased with a stick of candy, and boo-hoo if a finger be pointed at them.

IT ought to be tolerably clear to Mr Rutan by this time that his services at Harrisburg, as a State Senator, are no longer wanted. The "roosters" of this county, we admit, are all for him; but the sober, solid Republicans are decidedly averse to confiding any further legislation to his hands. He is regarded by them as a mere tool in the hands of the "little corporal," whose "political character is loathsome to men who are moved by "honest convictions, and who respect themselves."

Himself and his "loathsome" gang have brought a portion of the unexpended balance in the State Treasury into this county, and it is possible, though not at all probable, that through its free use, they may corrupt enough of voters to give him the nomination. But after the nomination, what then? One-third of the Republican voters of the county will go square against him, and in that event his defeat is certain, unless he can draw very largely from the Democratic party. This draft can only be made by trading off his colleagues on the Republican ticket in return for Democratic support. Does his own character for political integrity, and that of the "little Corporal" forbid the presumption that they will make the trades suggested? We think not. Must our candidates then for Congress, or Assembly, or Sheriff, go under in order that Rutan may be pulled through? Undoubtedly that will be the precise condition of things just as certain as the ex-Speaker is put upon the ticket. It seems to us that the prospective candidates for these offices could do nothing wiser just now, in the way of self-protection, than demand Mr. Rutan's retirement from the canvass, and insist upon the nomination of a candidate for the Senate who will neither trade them off, nor have any necessity for doing so.

Claims for Indirect Damages.

The Associated Press dispatch of last Thursday regarding the status of the indirect claims before the Geneva Board is regarded as the utterance of the State Department, and commented on from that point of view by the morning journals.

The New York World says that the action of the Administration is equivalent to the withdrawal of the claims, which is a national humiliation. The dispatch, it says, reads like an appeal for the suspension of public judgment.

The N. Y. Tribune takes the same view regarding the authority for the dispatch, and intimates that the claim of the State Department to establish a principal beneficial to America hereafter is a humbug, and says every stage of the negotiations thus far has been anything but creditable to either Cabinet.

The N. Y. Herald says: Driven into an unfortunate position by the incapacity of the Secretary of State, the President by a series of expedients seeks to escape from his misfortune by conceding to England under menace that should have been withheld at the outset, or if presented at all, urged upon the British Ministry, with all the resolution of our Government. It intimates the attitudes of the Government towards Spain in an attempt to conceal her humiliation in one case, and try to bluster in the other. The resolution which would have been noble, and would have thrilled the country a month ago, when applied to England now appears weak, and is vindictive when applied to Spain. Spain is to be bullied because we are afraid of England.

The Herald sees in this nothing but matter for the severest criticism for grief, pain and humiliation, and all things considered a better reason for looking with hopes and fear toward the Cincinnati Convention than any that has yet been seen. The Times not only makes no editorial allusion to the dispatch, but fails to print a line of it or anything on the subject.

—Information was received at Washington on Wednesday from Berlin with reference to what has been said there about the arms investigation by the United States Senate. The correspondent says no remonstrance had been made in connection with the sales of arms, and there was no fear that the German government would revive the subject or initiate complaint.

HERE AND THERE.

—The London Times has again been hinting that the British Government would do well to let Canada set up on her own hook. If the Kanucks had one particle of spunk, they would not wait to be kicked out, but secede of their own accord.

—The National Committee of the Irish American Reform League were in consultation at Cincinnati Thursday, with closed doors, in reference to action in the coming Presidential campaign. They are said to be opposed to Adams and in favor of Greeley.

—Some statistical genius, with an accurate comprehension of the combatative tendencies of the different kinds of liquor, has figured 437 fights to the average barrel of Cincinnati whisky. This thing considered in connection with the fact there was no absolute encounter in the Liberal Convention, fully supports the presumption, elsewhere noted, that the froth and foam of the body had a strictly soda-water origin.

—Intelligence has been just received here that the city of Madras and vicinity was visited by a terrific cyclone, on Wedensday last, which caused serious loss of life. A number of vessels at anchor in the roadstead, unable to put to sea owing to the sudden approach of the cyclone, were wrecked, and most of their crews perished. An immense pier leading far out into the water was breached and the city suburbs greatly damaged.

—After the withdrawal of Sickles no minister will be sent at present to Madrid, unless there is some disposition indicated to re-open negotiations upon a more trustworthy basis. The attitude of the United States government will not, therefore, be hostile but simply expectant. It is known that some months ago the Spanish government intimated to ours that the appointment of a minister of less liberal views than Sickles would be agreeable.

—Rumors were current Tuesday, and it was positively re-asserted on Friday morning that John Graham and E. T. Gerry, counsel for Stokes, the murderer of Fisk, have abandoned his case. The immediate reason appears to be that Stokes was dissatisfied with their manner of conducting the defense, and issued his recent card to the public against the advice of his counsel. It is also stated that the only remaining counsel, Wm. O. Bartlett is about to withdraw.

—Says the New York Bulletine: "The dealers in tea and coffee are in high glee over the repeal of the duties. The prices were not effected, and it is not thought they will be for some little time. The trade, however, is relieved of the depressing influence of uncertainty, and the congratulations upon all sides wers mutual. The repeal of the duties takes place after the first of July next, and it is the opinion of the trade this gives sufficient time to allow dealers and importers to arrange their stocks and avoid any possible loss."

—More tronble for the State department. The fishermen of New Jersey are arming to the teeth for the declared purpose of maintaining their inalienable right to a monopoly of the business on the eastern shore of the Delaware. The duty of Mr. Fish is plain and imperative, and we are confident he will not be found wanting. He must resist the demands of these insolent foreigners to the utmost, inform them that the United States is just now in no mood to be trifled with, and that if they do not withdraw their claims our Government will be compelled to back down regardless of consequences.

—The present stockholders of the New York Tribune are Horace Greeley, Mrs. Greeley, Bayard Taylor, Thomas N. Rooker, Solon Robinson, Samuel Sinclair, George Ripley, Theodore Tilton, Oliver Johnson, Charles E. Wilbour, C. A. Runkle, John Hooper, Ellis L. Price, Silas E. Cheney, John F. Cleveland, Patrick O'Rourke, Philip A. Fitzpatrick, Whitelaw Reid, Parsons Farnham, E. H. Jenny, J. C. Ayer, and the estates of A. D. Richardson and S. T. Clarke—twenty-two owners and 100 shares. Any owner who wishes to sell a share can readily get $10,000 for it, and something over. But even at that high price the stock is a better thing to hold than sell. A year hence, the Tribune will "pull down its barn and build greater." The present antique shanty will give place to a structure worthy of the character of the journal.

Col. Grosvenor's Address.

On calling the Cincinnati Convention to order, May 1st, Col. Grosvenor said: "As Chairman of the Liberal Republican Committee, appointed by the Liberal Republicans of the State Convention of Missouri, by which this Convention was called, it is my pleasure, gentlemen, to call to order this Convention. Originated in a single state, it has now embraced representatives—and worthy representatives—or the Republican party from every State in the Union. [Applause.] Nothing can prove more effectually the depth and the strength of the public sentiment to which we have appealed, than the fact that the call originated—so informally originated—in a state by no means the largest or the most potent in political affairs, has led to a Convention acknowledged now by all to be not only the largest, in point of numbers, ever assembled, but the truest representative of the popular sentiment. [Applause.]

Our appeal to the country, it appears, then, was based upon a correct judgment of public feeling and public need. [Applause.] It was so defined as to embody that will of the people of the United States, as will make its action a success in November next. [Applause.]

I need not make here the usual appeal for harmony. Men who have surrendered their share in a victorious party because of their conviction of duty will not come here to struggle for personal preference. [Applause.] Those preferences we lay upon the altar of our common cause, all else save those convictions of duty we can surrender, but those are our weapons, and we do not propose to throw them away in order to win the battle. [Applause.]

In the firm belief, gentlemen, that this Convention, called originally for consultation, will act so wisely that the people of the United States who stand behind it watching and ready to sustain it if it acts wisely, will yet triumph; in the firm belief that it will meet that demand which is felt all over the country for something more than consultation for a nominee who shall represent the people [Applause], I ask you to go forward with us to organize for that struggle against power which has so long and so injuriously controlled party organization and political power." [Loud applause.]

Forty-Second Congress.

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE, April 29.—A remonstrance was presented against the repeal of the eight-hour law, Mr. Scott moved to take up his resolution to limit the debate on the appropriation bills to five members for each Senator on each amendment. It was moved to add to the original the following: "and no amendments to any sub bill making legislative provision other than such as shall directly relate to appropriation contained in the bill shall be revived." The resolution, as amended, was agreed to.

HOUSE.—The House met at eleven o'clock, as it will during the remainder of the session. Under the call of states a number of unimportant bills were introduced and referred.—Among the bills introduced and referred was one to regulate and facilitate the payment of duties on imported merchandise. The appropriation bill was taken up and recommitted The House then went to the business on the Speaker's table and concurred in the following: The senate amendments to the House bill to promote the development of the mining resources of the United States. The Senate substitute for the House bill to perpetuate testimony in United States Courts. The Senate amendments to various private bills were also concurred in.

SENATE, April 30.—The House bill authorizeing the Commissioners of claims to make further reports of their proceedings whenever they shall deem it expedient or advisable, was taken up, but postponed. The bill extending for two years the time within which States may avail themselves of the act of of 1866, granting lands to assist in establishing Agricultural Colleges, was called up and passed. The deficiency bill was also passed. The bill to repeal the duty on tea and coffee passed finally. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Nothing of interest occurred.

SENATE, May 1.—A bill was passed repealing the provisions of army appointments, act of 1870 prohibiting promotions in the staff of the army. The bill to regulate elections in Washington and Idaho territories, passed. The naval appropriation bill was then passed.

HOUSE.—Bills were reported from the committee on Indian affairs, and acted on by the House. The following were passed: Regulating the mode of making private contracts with Indians; To authorize the United States Circuit Court for Indiana to make partition of the reservation of land of the Miama Indians; to provide for the sale of certain Indian lands in Kansas; authorizing the removal of restrictions on the alienation of certain Miami Indian lands in Kansas and to provide for the removal of the Kansas tribe of Indian territory, and to dispose of their lands to actual settlers only.

SENATE, May 2.—No business of importance was transacted in either House.

PARTY ORGANS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune]

A party organ is regarded by its supporters as hired and payed by them to whitewash their leaders, legislators and functionaries, while blackballing those of the opposite party. It is not expected—in fact, is not allowed—to have any conscience, nor to avow convictions which do not conduce to its party's success. If the organist should ever dare to have a mind of his own, he is promptly and cogently reminded that he is "bought with a price," and must demean himself accordingly. Party file-leaders will write him that he is "going counter to public sentiment"—that is, to their conception of what the party interests and ascendency demand. In their view, he is a top to be whipped into spinning, spinning ever, for their advantage and delectation. Whatever the future may have in store for us, whoever may be nominated at Cincinnati, Philadelphia, or elsewhere, we have resolved that this journal, at least so long as its present editor shall conduct it, will not be a party organ. We shall do our best to make it a good newspaper, giving all that happens which seems to us of general interest, and commenting thereon with absolute freedom, though this should constrain us to praise to-day the party or the men whom we had reason to censure yesterday.

Of course, this will cost. Some who have hitherto taken the Tribune will take it no more. That is their right, which we shall never call in question. Others will, in time, be educated into according to journalists a liberty to praise or blame as may seem to them just, which is freely accorded to every one else. There will always be organs enough for those who enjoy the music, and we presume there will be adequate support for a journal that chooses to print all the truth rather than cut and carve to suit the exigencies of any party. So, in this wide, wide world, we shall all probably be enabled to get on.

Methodist Bishops.

Bishop Morris, senior Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was born April 28th, 1790, and was consequently on Sunday last eighty-two years of age. He entered the itinerant ministry in Ohio Conference in 1815. He was elected and ordained bishop in 1836, at the general Conference in Cincinnati. He has not been able to perform full episcopal service for several years past.

Bishop Janes, now senior effective Bishop, was born April 27, 1807, and is consequently sixty-five years of age. He entered the itinerant ministry in the Philadelphia Conference in 1830, and was elected and ordained bishop at the general Conference held in New York in 1844. He has constantly been in labors abundant, and gives good promises of rendering the Church many additional years of efficient services.

Bishop Scott was born in 1802, and is now seventy years of age. He joined the Philadelphia Conference in 1826, and was elected and ordained bishop by the general Conference, which met in Boston in 1852. He has performed efficient service, attending all the Conferences assigned including those of the Southwest, until the recent session of the Indiana Conference, when he was suddenly prostrated by severe and repeated nasal hemorrhage. During the entire episcopacy he has failed to attend only three of his Conference sessions, and these were the last three assigned to him.

Bishop Simpson was born June 10, 1810, and is now nearly sixty-two years of age. He entered the Pittsburgh Conference in 1833, and was elected and ordained Bishop in 1852. During a portion of last year he was so prostrated as a result of his severe episcopal and ministerial labors as to be compelled to desist for several weeks from full service, and great anxiety was felt throughout the Church lest his invaluable life might be approaching its close. Rest, however, restored him to comparative health, greatly to the joy of the whole Church.

Bishop Ames was born March 30, 1806, and is now a little over sixty-six years of age. He entered the Illinois Conference in 1830, and, along with Bishops Scott, Simpson, and Baker, was elected and ordained Bishop at the General Conference held in Boston in 1852. From the first, Bishop Ames has been blessed with a vigorous and powerful physical constitution, which has enabled him to endure successfully the great wear and tear of his multiplied official duties. His thousands of friends will be glad to learn that he comes to the General Conference in apparently good physical condition, as well as in excellent mental cheer.

CINCINNATI CONVENTION.

There was but little transpired on the 1st day, save to perfect the organization of the body for business. Col. Grosvenor, of Missouri called the Convention to order, and delivered an address on the causes which prompted Republicans to call this convention. Hon. Stanley Mathews, of Ohio, was chosen temporary President, and made appropriate remarks, on assuming the chair. Temporary Secretaries were then appointed. A resolution was adopted that the several State delegations elect from among their numbers, delegates to double the number of the votes to be cast by the respective States in the Electoral College; and when the Convention meets again to-morrow at 10 o'clock A. M., such delegates report for duty in the transaction of the business of the Convention.

At the time the motion was put for adjournment, it was interrupted by vociferous calls for Senator Shurz, who appeared, thanked the audience for this mark of regard, but declined speaking at this time. Amid cries for Cassius M. Clay, the Convention adjourned till 10 a. m. on Thursday.

The out-look for a nomination of Presidential candidate, Wednesday evening, seemed to be divided among Adams, Davis and Greeley.

The Convention is reported larger than that at Chicago, which nominated the lamented Lincoln. Great earnestness and enthusiasm was evinced on the part of the vast body present.

Thursday, May 1.—Convention met, appointed temporary Committees and adjourned till 3 P. M., at which hour they re-assembled and elected Carl Schurz permanent Chairman. He delivered a speech on taking the Chair which was received with great enthusiasm.

The Committee on Credentials reported the following States properly represented; Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia, Louisiana, Indiana, Tennessee, Missouri, North Corolina, Wisconsin, California, Nebraska, Alabama, Texas, Oregan, Michigan, Deleware, Illinois, West virginia, Kansas, Mississippi, Ohio, Kentucky, Georgia, Nebraska, South Carolina, Vermont, Minnesota, Iowa, Colorado, Arkansas, Florida, Utah, District of Columbia, Dakato, Montana, New York. The Committee reported against admitting certain persons from New York and California as Delegates.—Mrs Laura D. Gordon and Susan B. Anthony were admitted on the platform, but not as delegates.

The rules governing the U. S. House of Representatives were adopted by the Convention. It was announced that delegates present should cast the entire vote of their States—each deligate representing such proportion of the entire vote as he shall be of the delegation present. The voice of no delegates therefore, would be silent in the Convention. A resolution was adopted not to nominate a candiate until after a platform was agreed upon. On this a considerable discussion arose. Mr. Woodhouse, of Pa., offered a resolution that it was inexpedient to nominate a candidate for President who is afflicted with a large number of relatives, which was adopted with much laughter.

J. H. Rhodes, Cleveland, O., offered the following resolution, which was received with cheers and referred to the Committee on Resolutions: Whereas, the President of the United States is an executive and not a legislative officer of the government, enforcing not making laws; and whereas the delegates to this Convention hold diverse opinions on the tariff question, as to whether it should be for revenue purposes only, therefore,

Resolved, That this question be referred to the Congressional districts as an issue to be properly made there, and that the will of the people thus expressed should be the policy of the Administration.

A motion was then made to suspend the rules and take up the tariff resolution, upon which much discussion arose. Without definite action the Convention adjourned.

Friday, May 3d.—Convention came to order at 10 o'clock, a. m. A resolution was adopted that when the Convention reached the point of balloting for candidates there should be no formal nominations, but proceed to cast the vote of States for a candidate for President. Horace White, from the committee on platform, reported the following as unanimously adopted in committee.

PLATFORM.

"We, the Liberal Republicans of the United States, in a national Convention, assembled at Cincinnati, proclaim the following principles as essential to a just Government:

First.—We recognize the equality of all men before the law, and hold that it is the duty of the Government, in its dealings with the people, to meet out equal and exact justice to all, of whatever nativity, race, color, or persuasion, religious or political, demanding nothing not right, submitting to nothing wrong."

A voice—Three cheers for the second Declaration of Independence. Great cries of "Question" overwhelmed the few who tried to get the floor to speak. The Chair put the question, and the report was adopted with loud and continued cheering. The Chair announced the vote as unanimous.

"Second—We pledge ourselves to maintain the union of these States emancipation and franchisements, and to oppose any reopening of the questions settled by the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the Constitution."

'Third—We demand the immediate and absolute removal of all disabilities imposed on account of the rebellion, which was finally subdued seven years ago, believing that universal amnesty will result in the complete pacification of all sections of the country."

"Fourth—Local self-government with impartial suffrage will guard the rights of all citizens more securely than any centralized power. The public welfare requires the supremacy of the civil over the military authority and the freedom of person under the protection of the habeas corpus. We demand for the individual the largest liberty consistent with public order, and for the State self-government, and the nation to return to the methods of peace and the constitutional limitations of power."

"Fifth—The Civil Service of the Government has become a mere instrument of partisan tyranny and personal ambition, and an object of selfish greed. It is a scandal and reproach upon free institutions, and breeds a demoralization dangerous to the perpetuity of Republican Government."

"Sixth—We therefore regard a thorough reform of the civil service as one of the most pressing necessities of the hour; that honesty, capacity and fidelity constitute the only valid claims to public employment; that the offices of the Government cease to be a matter of arbitrary favoritism and patronage, and that public station become again a post of honor. To this end it is imperatively required that no President shall be a candidate for re-election."

"Seventh—The public credit must be sacredly maintained, and we denounce repudiation in every form and guise."

"Eighth—A speedy return to specie payments is demanded alike by the highest considerations of commercial morality and honest government."

Ninth—We remember with gratitude the heroism and saccrafices of the soldiers and sailors of the Republic, and no act of ours shall ever detract from their justly earned fame, or the full rewards of their patriotism.

Tenth—We are opposed to all further grants of land to railroad or other corporations. The public domain should be held sacred to actual settlers.

Eleventh—We hold that it is the duty of the Government, in its intercourse with foreign nations, to cultivate the friendship of peace by treating with all on fair and equal terms, regarding it alike dishonorable either to demand what is not right or to submit to what is wrong.

Twelfth—For the promotion and success of these vital principles, and the support of the candidates nominated by this Convention, we invite and cordially welcome the co-operation of all patriotic citizens, without regard to previous political affiliations.

HORACE WHITE.
Chairman Com. on Resolutions.
G. P. THURSTON, Secretary.

The next order of business was stated by the Chair to be the nominations of Candidates for the Presidency. Without the formal presentation of candidates the role of States was called, and the result of the first ballot was: Adams, 203; Greeley, 147; Trumbull, 108; Brown, 98; Davis, 92½; Curtin, 62; Chase, 2½; Sumner, 1.

Before the vote was announced Gratz Brown, by unanimous consent, took the stand and thanked his friends for their support of him, but withdrew his name and asked his friends to support Horace Greeley. [Great cheers with many persitent hisses.] The Chair arose to announce the vote, when a Missouri delegate arose to a question of privilege, and asked to change his vote. Considerable confusion ensued, various delegates asking to change their votes, and the contentions arising in some of them, notably Kentucky, as to what the changes among themselves really were. Cassius Clay announced that the Kentucky vote was changed, five from Brown to Greeley, and one from Brown to Adams.

New Jersey changed some of her votes. The Chair announced the result: Adams, 203; Trumbull, 110; Davis, 92½; Greeley, 147; Brown, 95; Curtin, 62; Chase, 2½. Total vote 614.

Necessary to a choice, 318. No choice made.

Missouri asked leave to retire for consultation.

Seven ballots were had in all, and the result was the nomination of Horace Greeley, of New York, for President, and Gratz Brown, of Missouri, for Vice President.

Reunion and Reform Convention

CINCIN'TI, May 3.—The Reunion and Reform Convention re-convened this morning at ten o'clock in Mozart Hall, the number in attendance being small, Judge Ranney in the chair.

RESOLUTIONS.

Judge Warden, from the Committee on Resolutions, submitted the following resolutions:

Resolved, 1. That we as independent citizens, disregarding former political affiliations, and laying aside all mere partisan prejudices, now demand, with equal suffrage for all, complete amnesty for all; we demand a hearty and unreserved acquiescence in the Constitution as it stands today, accepting all the amendments in their true significance; we demand equal civil and political rights for every citizen, and complete protection in the enjoyment of those rights.

Resolved, 2. That local self-government, with impartial suffrage, will guard the rights of all citizens more securely than any centralized authority, and that people is the best governed which is governed least; we therefore demand for individuals the largest liberty consistent with public order: we demand for the State self-government, and for the nation a return to the methods of peace and power.

Resolved, 3, We are opposed to the employment of Government patronage for party purposes; we protest against the use of public offices to reward political friends or punish political enemies; we are in favor of the adoption of a thorough system of civil service reform, and demand a return to the early practice under our Government of appointing men to office on the ground of their fitness only, and of continuing them there while they are honest and efficient.

Resolved, 4. That we affirm that no form of taxation is just or wise which puts burdens upon the people by means of duties intended to increase the price of domestic products, and which are necessary for the purpose of revenue; we further affirm that gold and silver is the only sound and safe basis of currency; we therefore demand a thorough revision and reform of the present tariff, and a speedy return to a specie standard for the choice of the people.

Resolved, 5. That undue devotion to party has already greatly damaged the Republic, and we now engage ourselves to discountenance in every possible way the despotism of party organization and the abject submission of voters to the dictation of party politicians. Standing parties are not less dangerous to liberty than standing armies.

The resolutions were received with great enthusiasm as they were read. This was especially so of the resolution touching the tariff, which was follwed with clapping of hands, and other demonstrations of applause The last resolution, too, appeared particularly acceptable to the members of the convention. The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The President of the Convention, as soon as the applause had subsided, rose and said: "This was the best series of resolutions that has been adopted by any political convention in this country for twenty years."

Robert Chrystie, before the reading of the report of the committee, had offered the following resolutions, which were temporarily laid upon the table. They were now called up and read as follows:

For the purpose of giving to the Reunion and Reform movement greater efficiency.

Resolved, That a National Executive Committee be created by this Convention, composed of one person from each State and Territory of the Union, which Executive Committee shall have the customary powers belonging to such a commeittee.

Resolved, further, That in view of the fact that all the States and Territories are now represented in this Convention, said National Executive Committee is empowered to correspond and confer with persons in States and Territories now unrepresented in sympathy with the Union and Reform movement, with a view to the organization of Reunion and Reform associations in such unrepresented States and Territories.

Resolved, further, That so many States and Territories as are represented in the Convention shall propose to this Convention the name of one person, who is a member of said National Executive Committee.

Resolved, further, That said National Executive Committee shall have the power, when duly organized, to call a National Convention in the Reunion and Reform movement as such time and place as they may determine, if in their judgment the same should become necessary.

These resolutions were read and promptly adopted, one by one, until the last one was reached. This authorized the Executive Committee to call a national convention in a certain contingency.

After the announcement of the nomination of Greeley, the Convention agreed to a resolution to call a National Convention unanimously—believing that the nomination of Greeley had been procured through the friends of Grant.

—A bill has been introduced into both houses of Congress to incorporate the New Mexico Central Railroad Company. This is the first genuine civilizer introduced west of Texas and south of Colorado, and this railroad will do more to quiet the Apaches and maintain peace, insure economy, and perpetuate order, than all the cartridges and blankets sent to the Southwest since the acquisition of New Mexico and Arizona. The road will be a narrow gauge, extending from Santa Fe down the fertile valley of the Rio Grande, meeting the Southern Pacific at El Paso, Texas, and opening the whole region now closed for lack of means of access. Northward it will unite with the Denver and Rio Grande narrow gauge, which has reached almost the border line of Mexico. The effect of the road on the commercial interests of the Southwest cannot be over-estimated, and the strangest thing of all is that it does not ask Congress for a land grant.

FARM FOR SALE.

THE undersigned offers his farm in Moon township, containing 67 acres for sale. On the farm is a log house, and a small log stable. Plenty of fruit on the premises. The land is all enclosed, and all cleared with the exception of twelve acres. A running stream of water passes close to the house. Plenty of locust and walnut timber on the tract. Terms moderate. All necessary information can be had by calling on the premises.

AT
PITTSBURGH, PA.,
JULY 4TH, 1872.
$30,000 WORTH OF PROPERTY
TO BE GIVEN AWAY
300 BEAUTIFUL BUILDING LOTS
AT OAKDALE STATION.
TICKETS, $1.00.

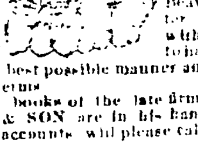
At conclusion of the Concert, the Manager will distribute 300 beautiful Building Lots to ticket holders in the usual manner, but honestly and impartially.

These lots belong to Mr. S. Gilliland, of Pittsburgh, Pa., whose title to the same is indisputable and being situated convenient to the city, will make excellent and pleasant homes for the workingman and mechanic. These lots are increasing in value daily. A rich six feet vein of Bituminous Coal underlies this property. A coal bank is open and in good working order. This bank, which gives full access to the coal underneath, will be given away with the Lot on which it is situated. The coal, valued at 1½ cents a bushel is worth $10,000. A neat Frame Cottage House is also on this property and with the outbuildings will be given away with the lots upon which it is built. Oakdale is a well known, thriving and prosperous town and at present contains an Academy, Female College, Malt House, Post Office, Express Office, and a large number of handsome dwelling houses, and taken altogether is a desirable place for industrious working men to settle.

CLUB PREMIUMS.—To the getter up of a club of thirty, a handsome Silver Watch will be given. To the getter up of a club of 20 five tickets will be given. To the getter up of a club of 10, two tickets will be given. To the getter up of a club of 6 one ticket will be given.

The following named gentlemen well known and prominent citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny cities, have permitted us to refer to them. They will vouch for the honesty and integrity of the enterprise: Hon. Jas. Blackmore, Mayor of Pittsburgh, and President of the Mechanic's Savings Bank; Benj. Singerly, State Printer; R. Munson Purcell, Editor and Publisher of the Weekly Mirror, Allegheny City, Pa.; Colonel Sam'l Kilgore, County Treasurer. As to title to said property, refer to H. S. Floyd, Attorney at Law, 89 Grant street, Pittsburgh.

GEORGE H. SHANAFELT, Gen. Manager,
To whom all communications must be addressed. General Office, 72 Third Avenue, Pittsburgh.
Persons remitting money must send by Registered Letter or P. O. Order.



T. J. CHANDLER, Dentist, still continues to perform all operations in the dental profession at his office, Beaver station, Rochester. All who favor him with a call may expect to have their work done in the best possible manner and the most reasonable terms.

The books of the late firm of T. J. CHANDLER & SON are in his hands, where all who have accounts will please call immediately and settle the same. may1 '72:1y

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

I OFFER for sale the following valuable property. Academy lots No. 61 and 62, containing about 20 acres, lying on the public road leading from Beaver to Vanport.

ALSO—Academy lot No. 73, lying on the Ohio river, adjoining land of Patrick Mulvannon on the west, containing about six acres, these lots are all sowed down in grass and in good condition; the lots are enclosed with good board fences, any person wishing to purchase will please call on me at my office, where all necessary information will be given. THE DOMESTIC

SEWING MACHINE.

The Best for All Purposes,

More easily managed, more durable and runs lighter than any Machine in the market, easily cleaned and kept in order, large bobbins, holds twice as much thread as any other shuttle. Lock Stitch; alike on both sides; self-adjusting tension.

Justly Popular,

From the first the "DOMESTIC" has rapidly increased in popularity, until to-day, in the opinion of all experienced Sewing Machine men, it stands forth

UNRIVALLED!

It is gaining favor much faster than any other Machine heretofore presented to the public, which can be seen from its increased sales last year over the preceding, being

OVER FIVE HUNDRED PER CENT.

No Machine is increasing its sales and gaining public favor as rapidly as the

"DOMESTIC."

THIS IS IN CONSEQUENCE OF ITS

SUPERIORITY

Contemplated Removal.—The Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad Company is talking of removing the station at this place to the foot of the road leading to McDonald's point. They remove it for the purpose of connecting this and the station at Bridgewater. We think the people of Beaver would consent to have the station removed to that distance, but we do not think they would like to have it placed any further away.

Cow Killed.—Sunday, between the hours of 12 m. and 1 p. m., a special train on the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad, near Beaver station, struck and killed a cow belonging to the widow of the late John Cotter, of Bridgewater. The train was coming at a high rate of speed, and it happened that a lot of cows were on the track close by the station; the engineer whistled, but was too near them to check up in time to avoid collision. The consequence was the death of the widow's cow.

Fatal Accident.—A lad aged about sixteen years, named Samuel Gallagher, of Raccoon township this county, was accidently shot, Friday of week before last. He received a gun from his uncle to shoot ducks, and in attempting to get into a skiff to cross the river he held the gun by the muzzle, dragging it over the side of the boat, when the cock caught, was drawn back and the gun discharged into his body. He lingered in great agony until relieved by death. This should be a warning to handle fire arms more carefully.

Fourth Annual Reunion of Battery B.—The fourth annual reunion of the surviving members of Battery B, 1st Pennsylvania Artillery, was held in Edinburg on Friday April 26th. The meeting was held in the M. E. Church, and the exercises were of an interesting character. In the absence of R. P. Stein of Nebraska, Mr. McCormick, of Mercer, Pa., delivered the annual oration. Mr. S. L. White, President, and W. W Officer, Secretary, were re-elected for the ensuing year. J. Q. Stuart was chosen to deliver the oration at the next annual reunion, to be held at Mount Jackson. M. Weyand; of this borough, by request, made an address on the occasion.

We pity those who do not "work." Ennui and satiety, sooner or later, are sure to be their portion. Like the child who is in possession of every toy, and who has snapped and broken them all, they stand looking about for something—anything—new and amusing; and like this child, they often stoop to the mud and gutter for it. It is an understood principle of human nature, that people never enjoy that which is easily obtained. Bread which has been purchased with unearned money has never the flavor and sweetness of that which is won by the sweat of one's own brow.

Defendants Allowed to Testify.—By an enactment of the State Legislature, defendants may in the trial of all indictments, complaints and other proceedings against persons charged with the commission of crimes or offences not above the grade of misdemeanor in any court of record, of criminal jurisdiction, the person so charged shall, at his own request, but not otherwise, be deemed a competent witness, but his neglect or refusal to testify shall not create any presumption against him, nor shall any reference be made to, nor shall any comment be made upon such neglect or refusal by counsel in the case during the trial of the cause; provided that this act shall not extend to the trial of any person on an indictment for perjury or forgery.

Local Option.—The local option law recently enacted by the Legislature promises to yield a fruitful crop of litigation. Already many of the best lawyers in the State have pronounced against its constitutionality—especially in the East, where they seem to be particularly exercised over it. IN A conversation, recently, with Mr. F. H. Ball of Foxburg, Clarion county, Pa., the subject came up relative to the best artists in the way of photographing, when Mr. Ball expressed himself thus: "I have traveled a good deal through the United States, been in many cities, have taken particular notice to this line of business, but have never seen Mr. H. Noss of New Brighton excelled, and but seldom equalled. That is just what the folks in this vicinity think too, and we know him to be a gentleman. Rep.

Serious Accident.—The young men of Beaver College amuse themselves during recess in playing marbles, base ball, pitching stones, &c. While engaged at the latter on Thursday noon last, Frank Border, son of John Border, of this borough, was hit on the back of the head by a rock which inflicted a deep wound in the scalp. Drs. McKinney and M'Nutt dressed the wound, and the lad will recover. The blow was an accident; but it should be a warning to the young gentlemen to be more careful in their amusements.

Temptation.—Many horses fall at the bottom of a hill because the driver thinks the danger past and the need to hold the reins with firm grip less pressing. So it is often with us when we are not specially tempted to avert sin, we are the more in danger through slothful ease. We think it was Ralph Erskine who said, 'There is no devil.' The worst temptation that ever overtakes us is, in some respects, preferable to our becoming carnally secure and neglecting to watch and pray.

The Homewood Presbyterian church was recently made the recipient of an elegant Pulpit-Bible and Hymn-book, and the Sabbath School connected with the church a donation of one hundred handsome volumes for their library. The generous donor—Hon. B. R. Bradford, of New Brighton—received the hearty thanks of both church and school for this most timous gift, and I am directed to send a notice of their action to the county papers for publication.

A Kittanning paper says murder trials are becoming so frequent in Armstrong county as to excite very little attention. A case tried last week in which Loring Kirkland was convicted of murder in the second degree, for the killing of Simon Burket was scarcely heard of outside of the Court House. Another trial of a similar nature is on the June calendar.

By the new law, township clerks are required, within sixty days after the annual election, to make out and publish a full and complete statement of the financial condition of said township under a penalty of fifty dollars. In several counties in this State where this law was disregarded, suits were brought by the tax payers and the penalty collected. By observing this law the clerks may save themselves and friends the trouble and expense of litigation.

Five Hundred Thousand.—500,000 Bottles of Green's August Flower has been sold in this State in three months. We only ask you to go to the drug stores of Hugo Andriessen, Beaver, S Hannen, Rochester, or Gilliland & Kerr, New Brighton, Pa., and get a bottle free of charge, or a regular size at seventy-five cents. Every Bottle warranted to cure Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, Sick-headache, Costiveness, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Impure Blood, or deranged Stomach and liver. Use Dr. Boschee's German Syrup for consumption. nov29;1y.

To Mend Rubber Boots.—A Correspondent of the Rural New Yorker writes that he has mended rubber shoes in the following manner:—"Get a piece of pure rubber—an old shoe; vulcanized rubber will not do—cut into small bits; put it into a bottle and cover to twice its depth with spirits of turpentine or refined coal tar naptha—not petroleum naptha. Stop the bottle and set to one side, shaking it frequently. The rubber will soon dissolve. Take the shoe and press the rip or cut close together, and put on the solution with a camel's hair brush. Continue to apply as fast as it dries, until a thorough coating is formed.

SOME people are under the impression that they cannot get a good picture taken unless the day is very bright and clear; now Mr. H Noss, of New Brighton, said the other day that such was not the case, as the best pictures were taken when the light was not too bright, as when it is very bright, with those who had any tendency to weakness of the eyes, the representation would not be perfect.

Dr. Franklin once said. "Keep your shop and your shop will keep you." This holds good in any business, whether it is in the shop or profession. There is nothing so important to advance a man's trade or build up his reputation, besides honesty, as close application to his business. Only in an hour's or a few minutes' negligence during business hours he may lose a bargain which he might have made, had he attended to his affairs properly. Men generally go where they will be waited on soon, and if they do not find it so in one place they will go elsewhere to deal.

Decoration Day.—The 30th day of May has been fixed upon as the day for decorating soldiers' graves. In a circular issued from the headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic, at New York, by order of General Burnside, which announces that the 30th of May will be observed as Decoration Day, the following beautiful suggestion is made, which is well worthy of consideration: "In addition to the strewing of the graves with flowers, it is suggested that they be planted with flowers and shrubs, so that, when we are gone, the seasons in their ceaseless round may, in our stead, adorn the sleeping places of our comrades."

THE CAUSE of Temperance finds some of its most insidious and dangerous foes in the many so-called "tonics" and "appetizers," made of cheap whisky and refuse liquors, finished up to suit depraved appetites, under the name of medicines. Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are none of these. They are not a beverage, but a genuine medicine, purely vegetable, prepared from California herbs by a regular physician. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, skin and blood, they are an infallible and unrivalled remedy. may8;4w.

Train your pear trees for garden or field use so that they will branch at a distance of one or two feet from the ground. The advantages are easily enumerated:

1. It is easy to trim.
2. It is easy to gather the fruit.
3. Falling fruit is little injured.
4. All branches being sturdy will not be strained by over bearing or over weight of fruit.
5. Soil will be kept shaded and moist.
6. The trunk will be protected from the scorching sun.
7. The tree will grow more and more beautiful.

Persecution may be a blessing by testing our earnestness. A man may think himself in earnest when it is a mere hobby he is riding, and when the hobby balks he gets off and goes home. Let a man start out, and find those who promised to help proving tricky and his motives maligned, he will give it up unless he be in earnest. It is easy to be a soldier in time of peace. We had many brave captains and colonels and majors before the war but at Big Bethel, when the battle opened, how the fellows did run! If men are not in earnest in Christian conflict they may make a good show for a while; but, attacked and pursued, they show the white flag and surrender.

Castoria—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emolient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup and kills Worms Make your druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. ma8;4w

Important Decision.—We know not what has been the practice heretofore by postmasters, in relation to subscribers to county papers who receive them from a postoffice which is located in an adjoining county to that in which the paper is published, and in which the subscriber resides. However, we learn that the Postoffice Department at Washington has decided that bona fide subscribers to weekly newspapers can receive the same free of postage, if they reside in the county in which the paper is printed and published, even if the office to which the paper is sent is outside the county, provided it is the office at which they regularly receive their mail matter. The requirement of the law is simply that the subscriber should live in the county where the paper is printed and published though his regular postoffice may be in an adjoining county, or an adjoining State.

A Child Severely but Not Fatally Burned.—On last Sabbath afternoon, a little girl aged about two years, of Charles A. Decarme of Beaver, was severely but not fatally burned. The clothing worn by the child caught fire from the grate, during the temporary absence from the room of Mrs. Decarme, and on her return she found the little one enveloped in a flame. She immediately caught it in her arms, and soon smothered the flame, but not in time to prevent the head, shoulders and one side of the child from being badly burned. Dr. McNutt was called in and did what he could to relieve its sufferings.

Akron "Beacon" Burnt.—On Saturday morning a fire broke out in the office of the Akron Beacon which resulted in the complete loss of that office. The building had been on fire the day before, and it is supposed that some smouldering sparks had kept alive during the night, and had broken out anew in the morning. The office was totally destroyed, we are told, and the loss but partially covered by insurance. We deeply sympathize with our brethern in their heavy loss, and hope that the Beacon may speedily rise from the ashes to shine still brighter than ever, and for many long years be a beacon in truth to many a political and moral wanderer.—Holmes County Republican.

Children hunger perpetually for new ideas. They will learn with pleasure from the lips of parents, what they deem drudgery in books; and even if they have the misfortune to be deprived of many educational advantages, they will grow intelligent if they enjoy in childhood the privilege of listening daily to the conversation of intelligent people. We sometimes see parents who are the life of every company, enter, dull, silent and uninteresting at home among their children. If they have not mental activity and mental stories for both, let them first use what they have for their own household. A silent house is a dull place for young people, a place from which they will escape if they can. How much useful information, on the other hand, is given in family conversation, and what unconscious but excellent mental training in lively social argument? Cultivate to the utmost of all, the graces of home conversation.

Geese.—The season has approached when people who raise geese, think it advisable to strip them of their fleece of feathers. Some people have a holy horror of plucking the feathers from live geese. They say it is as painful to the goose as it would be to a human being to have his crop of hair plucked out by the roots. In Europe geese are only plucked when dead. The Butler Citizen thus elegantly discourses on the subject:

> "Now is the time when luckless geese and ganders flee from the pursuing clutch of their impecunious owners who not only seek to snatch them bald headed for gain, but pluck their pinions bare to supply the quill drivers of the country with conducting pipes for their thoughts. But it is mortifying to that proud bird, the goose, to go around with only a few pin feathers for use and ornament, or perhaps a solitary tail feather left as a reminder of old times."

Strawberries.—The crop of berries is frequently destroyed early in growing season by fowls which scratch open the hills and pick out the buds. Fowls of every kind should be kept away from strawberry plantations early in spring. Then, if the soil is not rich, remove the dirt around each hill to the depth of half an inch or more, without disturbing the roots; then spread evenly over an area of twenty inches in diameter, a pound of finely pulverized linseed meal or oil meal, and cover it with mellow soil, after which spread a mulching of hay or straw two inches deep over the entire surface between the hills. Should the weather be warm and dry, a liberal supply of warm water daily will greatly promote the growth of both vines and berries. Pull up the weeds and grass among growing strawberries, rather than cut them up with hoes, as a system of roots is formed near the surface of the ground which should not be injured with a hoe. The crop of strawberries is often ruined by using a hoe among the plants in the spring of the year. The hoeing should be done after the crop of fruit has matured, and never before the berries have ripened, as a hoe mutilates the roots of the bearing vines.

A HIGH COMPLIMENT.—It is not at all surprising that certain cracker manufacturers should find it to their advantage to imitate Messrs. Marvin & Co, as closely as possible. This is certainly the highest compliment they could pay this firm, and if their efforts were confined to making as good, or if possible better, articles in their line of business, this competition would be legitimate and honorable. But we regret to hear that this imitation consists in copying the shape and styles of Marvin & Co's boxes and other packages; in imitating the brands, labels, lettering, and marking; adopting even the color of the inks employed; and in short approximating as nearly to Marvin & Co.'s trade-marks as it is possible to do without direct infraction of the law. By these disingeneous methods, purchasers have been deceived into buying an inferior article of cracker, cake, or biscuit, under the impression that they were obtaining Marvin & Co.'s and the latter firm has been unjustly charged with manufactures that were not up to their standard. To avoid this danger, let purchasers, in orders to their grocers, be sure to specify Marvin & Co.'s various crackers; also, to note carefully the marking of the packages; or, if convenient, make their purchases at the Bakery, Nos. 91 and 92 Liberty Street, Pittsburgh.—(Presbyterian Banner.

To Wean a Colt.—It is not necessary nor even desirable that in weaning the colt should be removed from the mare. It is a good plan to have a closed stall or box for her colt next to each mare's stall. She can communicate in her own with her colt, and will not be so uneasy as she would be were it removed out of sight, nor will the colt suffer in any way. Care must be taken to give the colt water four times a day, and feed with the best of early cut hay, and gradually a few oats, a handful at a feed at first, until a pint is fed twice a day. Colts must be kept thriving if a good horse is wanted. The curry comb must be used, but gently; the young animal be caressed and taught not to fear but to love its owner; to become used to the various movements made around the stable, and the various articles contained therein. It should be taught to lead now, if this has been neglected up to this time. If there is any danger of the mare becoming troubled with excess of milk, it must be drawn from her, and dry feed be given her until all danger is past When she is quite dry the colt may take exercise with her, but previous to this it will be better in the stable.

The Legislature at the last session passed a bill which is intended to protect honest people against sharpers who go through the country selling Patent Rights, some of which are humbugs and who take obligations for the same.

The bill provides that, whenever any promissory note or rather negotiable instrument shall be given, the consideration for which shall consist, in whole, or in part, of the right to make, use or vend any invention claimed to be patented, the words "given for a patent right," shall be prominently and legibly written or printed on the face of such note or instrument above the signature thereto, and such note or instrument in the hands of any purchaser or holder, and any person who shall purchase, or become the holder, of any promissory note, or other negotiable instrument, knowing the same to be given for the consideration aforesaid, shall hold such note or instrument subject to the same defenses as in the hands of the original owner or holder. A violation of the act in not writing the words "given for a patent right" across the face of such paper is made a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding sixty days, or both at the discretion of the court.

A Change.—The Steam Mill, at Shippingport, this county, has had a change of proprietorship. Messrs. Brotherton & Brunton was the firm. It is now Brotherton & Caler; Mr. Brunton having disposed of his interest to Mr. A. Caler. The mill was very popular in the community under its former proprietorship, and there is no fear that it will be less so under the supervision of the new firm. Mr. Caler is a gentleman of ability, and withal courteous and accommodating. Mr. Brotherton is held in high estimation. Mr. Brunton is engaged in mercantile pursuits, for which he is so admirably well qualified. May all the gentlemen meet with that prosperity which merit and industry are sure to give.

Examining Committee.—Hon. William McClelland, has appointed the following gentlemen to examine the applicants for a West Point Cadetship, in this district: Dr. A. T. Shallenberger, Beaver county, Prof. M. Gantz, Lawrence county, Hon. Robt. A. McConnell, Greene county, Dr. W. Grayson of Washington county, and Dr. George H. Keyser of Pittsburgh as umpire. The Committee meets at the St. Charles Hotel, Pittsburgh, Tuesday, May 14th, at 11 o'clock, a. m. The Committee will be guided in their examinations by the printed instructions of the War Department.

The committee seems to us a good one, and we doubt not will act fairly in the matter. Now, then, young men of the 24th district, put in an appearance, and show off to the best advantage.

The Case of Rev. W. M. White Again.—The Presbytery of Washington held its semi-anual meeting at West Alexander last week, commencing its session on Tuesday evening, the 23d and ending on the morning of the 26th ultimo. The chief business transacted was the trial of Rev. William M. White on the charges upon which he was once before condemned by the same body. These were, 1st: Seduction, fornication and bastardy, and 2d, procuring, or aiding to procure an abortion. The female concerned was Miss Jennie M. Scott, of Hookstown, this county. The case, as decided before by the Presbytery, was carried up by appeal to the Synod of Pittsburgh, and by that body sent back to the Presbytery for the purpose of additional testimony, alleged to be forthcoming, and of reissuing the case in the light of it. At the late meeting, the result reached was condemnation on the first charge, by a vote of 24 to 13, seven out of the twenty four, however, limited their vote for fornication and bastardy and not embracing seduction.

On the charge of abortion, he was acquited by a vote of 21 to 16, nine out of the sixteen voting to sustain the charge in part and the remainder in full. The same sentence was imposed as before, viz: Suspension from the office of the ministry and from membership in the church until, in the judgment of Presbytery, the glory of God and the good of the church shall demand his restoration.

Making Farm Life Attractive.—By less hard work. Farmers often undertake more than they can do well, and consequently work too early and too late.

By more system. The farmer should have a time to begin and a time to stop labor. He should, theorize as well as practice, and let both go together. Farming is healthy, moral, and respectable, and, in the long run, may be made profitable. The farmer should keep good stock and out of debt. The farm is the best place to begin and end life, and hence so many in the cities and professional life covet a rural home.

By taking care of health. Farmers have healthy variety of exercise, but too often neglect cleanliness, omitting bathing, eat irregularly and hurriedly, sleep in ill ventilated apartments, and expose themselves to cold. Nine-tenths of the human disease arise from cold or in temperance. Frequent bathing is profitable, so is deliberation at the dinner table, and rest after a meal.

By adorning the house. Nothing is lost by a pleasant home. Books, papers, music and reading should all be brought to bear upon the indoor family entertainments; and neatness and comfort, order, shrubbery, flowers and fruits should harmonize all without. Home should be a sanctuary; so happy and holy that children will love it, woman delight in it, manhood crave it, and old age enjoy it. There would be less desecration of old homesteads if pains were taken to make them agreeable. Ease, order, health and beauty are compatible with farm life, and were ordained to go with it.

The demand for improved farm implements of every description has largely increased within the last few years. New machinery of every kind is being invented and old machines improved. The agents of every machine attempt to impress upon the people the fact that their machines are the best in use, and many purchase on the basis of these representations, without testing the merits of other machines. But where a single agent is selling different kinds of machines, every purchaser has the opportunity of providing himself with a machine suitable to his wishes.

The Messrs. J & R. Harsha, of Roger's Ferry, this county, have adopted the latter method. They are the authorized agents for some of the best Mowing Machines now in the market They are also agents for some of the best improved Horse Hay Rakes, and will order any Rake desired

At their large Agricultural Warehouse can be found Wagons, Plows, and all kinds of farming implements. They are the authorized agents for the celebrated Howe Sewing Machine, one of the best in the market, and one which meets the demands of every family, and should be in every household.

The above firm are reliable, they are men of integrity, and possess excellent business qualifications, and we recommend them to all those desiring to purchase anything in their line of business.

We learn that they intend canvassing Beaver county during the months of May and June, but not like the majority of our canvassers, for the purpose of obtaining office, but for the purpose of disposing of machines to those in need of these articles.

Belligerent.—The editor of the Radical exhibited a very belligerent disposition last week. He not only accused us of forging the ex-Speaker's name to a telegram to Philadelphia (which accusation, by the way, is untrue in every particular), but he calls the editor of the Pittsburgh Gazette a "liar" so frequently and ferociously that many might be led to believe that a trouncing was in store for its editor the first time M. S. Q. came across his way. But nothing of this kind need be apprehended by the Gazette editor from any threats which Col. Q. makes. He comes games of that sort now and then, and as we understand his weak points thoroughly, we feel it a duty resting upon us to apoligize to our Pittsburgh neighbor for the unmannerly treatment he has received at the hands of an editor from this county.

The gallant Colonel is not always rude. In fact we know that it is only occasionally that a 'bad spell' comes over him, and the origin of the one, that afflicted him last week, is said to be as follows: His Hartranft-Alderney cow has not been doing well since he became her owner. His creek sand and sawdust mixed-feed has not filled the udder to his satisfaction, and the result is, he has been "fighting mad" for the past few weeks. As a stock raiser and dealer in improved Alderney cows, he now looks upon Gen. Hartranft as an outrageous fraud, but as a forgetter of matters pertaining to the Evans Swindle he believes him to be a great success. Another cause of perplexity is said to have arisen from a recent correspondence he had with an eastern farmer. The eastern agriculturist having some knowledge of Col. Quay's fame as a stock breeder and farmer, wrote him on matters embracing a number of points in husbandry, and received the following reply:

> "I consider the present month the best time for grafting baked-bean trees and pruning celery vines. The pork crop should be transplanted from the hot-beds as soon as the 20th, or the ears will not fill out well and the curculio will devour the fruit as fast as it falls from the limbs. Lettuce should be planted about four seeds in a hill, on ground plowed at least six feet deep with a subsoil plow, and poles should be set for the vines to run up on. The heads should not be shaken from the branches, but picked by hand. Suckers should be pinched off beet bushes and the dried-apple crop sown in drills with sauerkraut planted between the rows."

To this the farmer answered that Col. Q., "must either have been drunk when he wrote or else was a blasted f—l." Of course neither of these conclusions were correct, but the Eastern man's language has served to make the Radical editor very petulant, and we therefore, ask the Gazette to look over his impertinence this time, and meanwhile we will vouch for his good behavior in the future.

For the Beaver Argus.

A TRIP TO BALTIMORE.

MR. EDITOR:—I lived for years in Baltimore, paced its streets, transacted business and delighted to live there. My first connection with the Sabbath School work began there in 1810. In St. Peter's P. E. church, along with Mr. W. Woodward, its present very efficient Superintendent. They contemplate holding their May anniversary on the second Sabbath of this month, and I am most earnestly and affectionately urged to be there. Bro. Woodward says, in his letter to me:

"Bro. Miller, you must come on to B. and see our new St. Peter's church, and my new delightful S. S., and S. S. room, capable of accommodating four hundred or five hundred scholars and teachers. I have a loving band of teachers and dear children; and I want you to come on once more, if it pleaseth the Master, before either of us goes hence to be no more. And, come right to my house.—Remember, I was seventy last September, and have been nearly fifty-three years in Sabbath School; and you are my senior in years, but junior in Sabbath Schools. Now, our May anniversary will soon be held, and my kind Rector will have it always to take place on the 2d Sabbath, which is the anniversary of my entrance into S. S. So come then, if it suits you best."

And accordingly, Mr. Editor, I start from Pittsburgh, Tuesday 7th inst, D. v., for my old home, to be present on that occasion. I may see fit to write to you while away, if you will accept of a few communications. It will also give me pleasure to interest your readers and encourage the S. S. cause.

I may, forsooth, visit the President of these United States of America, while East; or at least the city in which he now dwells, and I hope will for four years more. Then I may go to see old Frederickstown, and where I was raised and spent my boyhood. I may also stop, on my return, at Bedford where I once had a very flourishing S. S., composed of all denominations, and visit the celebrated Springs there. But I don't calculate on going to Brooklyn, N. Y., the seat of our present General Conference, because they very properly did not see fit, at our recent Conference, to elect me to go.

Yours truly,
J. K. MILLER.

The Senatorial Question Again.—The Pittsburgh Gazette comprehends the situation in this county when it says to its neighbor, the Commercial:

Yes, we all know that you are opposed to General Negley's re-election, and some of us know the reason why, but how is it with Rutan—your bosom friend—are you for him or not? Why will you not tell us? Some of John F. Dravo's friends would like to know. Now since Rutan's prospects begin to "look squally," and his faithful friend "K" is doing all that can be done for him, why are you silent after promising your valuable assistance? In this connection we will inform our good neighbor the Washington Reporter that our objection to Mr. Rutan is not of a personal nature, but based on good Republican grounds, viz: on the assurance that if nominated, "six hundred Republican votes will be cast against him in his own county," which will certainly defeat him. If this statement can be disproved, we shall not continue to advise against the renomination of Mr. Rutan. But we do not want to see another Shurlock disaster in Beaver, and we are positively assured that in case of Rutan's nomination it will be repeated. Therefore, would it not be wise to take up some new man, who can unite the different factions and bring about peace and harmony? If Mr. Rutan desires to secure this, harmony, he will withdraw from the contest. We have, absolutely, nothing personally against him, we repeat but we do not intend to let the Republican ascendency in the XXVth Senatorial District be placed in jeopardy, if we can help it. It would prove a serious matter, at this time, to the party, and therefore it is our duty to speak out and tell what we know. Every good Republican in the district will heed the warning, and if there is ascertained to be a wide-spread feeling of animosity against Mr. Rutan—not so much against him personally, but as the representative of an obnoxious faction—then it is the duty of the party to withdraw from the canvass. If he is assured that his nomination will defeat the ticket, and give the district to the Democrats—a result similar to that which befell Dr. Shurlock last fall—he should not longer stand in the way of harmony and peace within the ranks of the party. Can he object to this; ought he or his friends to find fault with us for insisting upon it? Does he place his personal aims and ambitions above the safety of the party? We think he does not, and that he will yet rise above the clamors of the little coterie of factionists, which hems him in and thus far controls his actions, and announce his withdrawal from the canvass. If he fails to do this, it is the duty of every good Republican, whether in the district or out of it, to labor for his defeat, provided it is believed his nomination will imperil the success of the ticket, and lose the party a Senatorial district. The party cannot stand such a loss at this time.

Trustees' Sale

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

BY virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Beaver county, the undersigned Administrators of the estate of William Davidson, sr., late of said county, dec'd., and Trustees to make sale of decedent's real estate after proceedings in Partition, will expose to sale at public vendue or outcry, on the premises on Friday, May 24, 1872, at 10 o'clock, a. m., all the following described real estate of said deceased situated in Chippewa township, Beaver county, Pa., to wit: One tract bounded as follows, viz: Beginning at a post at south-west corner, thence by other lands of said deceased, (purpart No. 3) north 87 degrees, west 152 perches to a post; thence by lands of S. M. Welsh, north 3½ degrees, east 87 75-100 perches to a stone; thence by lands of William McCaughtry and purpart No 1 north 87 degrees 5 minutes, west 132 20-100 perches to a stone; thence by purpart No. 1 south 3 deg. west 87 60-100 perches to the place of beginning, containing 72 acres and 60 perches, upon which are erected a two-story frame dwelling house, log stable, and other outbuildings; about 60 acres cleared, and balance well timbered; a four-feet vein of coal underlies the premises.

ALSO, Another tract in said township bounded by lands of Daniel McDade, Jeremiah Gilchrist, the minor heirs of John Davidson, deceased, and Joseph Hanna; containing 49 acres and 36 perches, upon which are erected a log dwelling house, log stable and outbuildings; fruit trees on premises; all cleared, under fence, and underlaid with a four-feet vein of coal. Each of above farms within three miles of New Galilee station, on P. F. W. & C. R. W. Mills, schools and churches convenient

ALSO, On Saturday, May 25th, 1872, at 9 o'clock a. m., on the premises, all those two certain lots of ground situate in that part of Bridgewater boro called North Bridgewater in said county, adjoining each other, and together bounded as follows, viz: Beginning at the end of Water street, and extending thence along the Sharon road to Elm street; thence by Elm street to the extension of Walnut alley; thence by said alley to Grape alley; thence by Grape alley to the place of beginning. A quantity of ground about equal to three lots in Davidson's plan of North Bridgewater, said lots having 120 feet front on Walnut alley, and extending back by parallel lines to Sharon road aforesaid, upon which are erected a large three and a half storied brick dwelling house, containing 11 rooms; a new frame granary, coal house and other buildings, cistern and good well of water at the door; fruit trees on the premises.

ALSO, Two lots in said Davidson's plan, Nos. 27 and 28 in the borough aforesaid, upon which is erected a two-story frame dwelling house, containing 5 rooms and kitchen, good fence; coal house and fruit trees on premises.

ALSO, Lot No. 102 in said Davidson's plan, upon which is erected a small frame, one-story, house with basement containing four rooms; good fruit on lot.

ALSO, Lots 69, 70, 71, 72 and 73 in Davidson's plan in said borough, lots 69 and 70 having a front of 50 feet each on Sycamore alley, and extending back by parallel lines to Beaver and Sharon road; lots Nos. 71, 72 and 73 having each a front of 50 feet on Clarion street and extending back 129 feet to Sycamore alley, all under fence.

ALSO, Lots Nos. 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63 in Davidson's plan, each 50 feet on Mulberry street, and running back 129 feet to Sycamore alley; all surrounded by fence.

ALSO, Lot No. 90, in said plan, bounded west by Beaver and Sharon road, 68 feet by said road, south by Grape alley 28 feet, east by Clarion street 68 feet, partly under fence

ALSO, Lot No. 105 in said plan, upon which is erected a two story frame house containing 4 rooms & kitchen with cellar underneath, fruit trees on lot, and lot under fence.

ALSO, Lot No. 103, in said plan, upon which is erected a large, frame stable, lot fenced.

ALSO, Lot No. 104, in same plan, upon which is a one story frame house at present used as an office, containing two rooms with cellar underneath.

ALSO, The undivided one third of that certain lot of ground situated in said Boro of Bridgewater, county and State aforesaid bounded on the east by Beaver River, south and west by Public Road or Street, and on the north by lot of —— upon which is erected a large steam saw mill

ALSO, Two lots of ground situate in Rochester tp., County and State aforesaid, being Nos 23 & 24, in a plan of lots laid out by Jos. Irvin & John H. Whisler, Administrators of the estate of John Bolles dec'd, containing TWO ACRES & ELEVEN PERCHES.

ALSO, A parcel or lot of ground, situated in said Rochester Tp., in the village of Boilesville, near the last above mentioned lots, containing ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTEEN AND ONE-HALF PERCHES.

TERMS—One third of purchase money in hand on confirmation of sales by the Court; one-third at the expiration of one year from the date of said confirmation with legal interest thereon from the same time; and the balance to remain charged on the premises during the natural life of said decedent's widow, the interest thereon to be paid to her annually from and after said confirmation, and at her death said deferred instalment to be paid to the parties legally entitled thereto, purchasers to pay expense of preparing deeds, bonds and mortgages and stamping same Remarkable Preservation of a Human Body.

[From the Paris True Kentuckian.]

The body of Mrs. Young, who died of cholera in this city in the summer of 1854, was exhumed on Wednesday last by undertaker John T. Hinton, and taken in his hearse to Mt. Sterling, where the deceased resided previous to her removal to Paris. At the time of her death Mrs. Young was landlady of the hotel now kept by John Griffith. Two or three weeks after her interment the family of the deceased went back to Mt. Sterling, and as she was buried in the strangers' lot, her grave was neglected and the mound almost leveled with the common earth, so that when the two daughters came last week to see the removal, there was some doubt as to whether they had found the right grave, but they said they could tell if it was their mother, when the coffin was opened, by a pair of crescent-shaped earrings, and the work of exhumation was commenced.

When the burial case was brought to the surface the plate covering the face was taken off, and the daughters, who expected to behold nothing but a skeleton, recognized the features of their mother as natural as when the coffinlid hid them from view, with the exception of a slight yellow discoloration and sinking of the eyes. The wreath of flowers upon the bosom looked quite fresh, but had a yellow tinge; the rosebuds in her hair had not fallen from the parent stem.

Rapid Rebuilding of Chicago.

The Chicago Landowner says the burnt district now presents a scene that the world will probably never again witness. Five square miles of city blocks rising brick by brick, stone by stone, as if by some unseen mighty creative power. The seared ruins are growing less visible every day, for they are unsightly, and Chicago does not care to show them. O stranger, come quickly ! or only the legends of the great conflagration will remain. Are the heroes of history alone to enjoy the immortality of fame? There are a thousand persons in Chicago to-day who, seven months ago, saw their cherished hopes perish in the flames; saw their birthright, as it were, torn from them. They did not whine. They did not invoke the aid of the gods. They rolled up their sleeves and went at it, as we have it in our good old Anglo Saxon. Chicago made no faces at fate. Her men are heroes, beside whom the famous characters of history are tame.

Seven months from the fire and our docks are crowded with shipping, our granaries are full to overflowing, our merchants—a large number of them—are located in new and commodious buildings, others are in temporary quarters, but well located for trade and they are doing business.—More goods are being sold in Chicago this spring than ever before. The prospects are bright, even brilliant. Two years from date the census will give us half a million of inhabitants. If you do not believe it, go to the depot on the arrival of any train and see the new comers who have determined to cast their lots here and grow up with the new city. They are men and women of enterprise, and will succeed.

Discovery of a Submerged City.

During the heavy gales which prevailed last fall, the tide, on one occasion, says the St. Augustine, Florida, Press, of April 13th, was driven so low in the North river that a remarkable discovery was made.—About seven miles North of St. Augustine, on the West shore of North river, the remains of an ancient city were disclosed. Several wells, walled in with coquina, are now visible, under water, but the foundation of the house can only be felt with a pole. On the occasion of the discovery, a gale had prevailed for four or five days from the North, driving the water out of the river to an extent never before known. Further investigation have brought to light a coquina quarry on this site; and, what is the most remarkable, the quarry is in the midst of a great hammock, and which any one can see now by taking the trouble to go there. The rock is of a quality equal to any on Anastasia Island, and the quarry has been extensively used, doubtless for the purpose of building this city, or settlement—for one or the other it certainly was.

"That's How."

After a great snow-storm, a little fellow began to shovel a path through a large snow-bank before his grandmother's door. He had nothing but a small shovel to work with.

"How do you expect to get through that drift?" asked a man passing along.

"By keeping at it," said the boy, cheerfully ; "that's how!"

That is the secret of mastering almost every difficulty under the sun. If a hard task is before you, stick to it. Do not keep thinking how large or hard it is; but go at it, and little by little it will grow smaller, until it is done.

If a hard lesson is to be learned, do not spend a moment in fretting; do not lose breath in saying, "I can't" or "I do not see how;" but go at it and keep at it—study. That is the only way to conquer it.

If a fault is cured or a habit broken up, it cannot be done by merely being sorry, or only trying a little.—You must keep fighting until it is got rid of.

The Discovery of Great Salt Lake.

The Cincinnati Inquirer says: A party of beaver trappers who ascended the Missouri with Henry and Ashley found themselves in pursuit of their occupation on Bear river, in Cacha (or willow) valley, where they wintered in the winter of 1824-25, and in discussing the course Bear river ran, a bet was made between two of the party, and James Bridger (who is still alive) was selected to follow the course of the river and determine the bet. This took him to where the river passes through the mountains, and he discovered the Great Salt Lake. He went to its margin and tasted the water, and on his return reported his discovery. The fact of the water being salt induced the belief that it was an arm of the Pacific Ocean. In the spring of 1826 four men went in skin boats around it to discover if any stream containing beaver were to be found emptying into it, but returned without success.

Significant.

In these days of corrupt elections and ballot-box stuffing, it is gratifying to be able to record one instance where the true outspeaking of the popular voice was not and could not be tampered with. The Chicago Relief Committee which undertook to furnish sewing machines to persons needing them, have reported that they supplied 2,427 machines, against 517 of all other kinds. It will thus be seen that the admirers of the Singer were five to one against those choosing other machines. This is an unmistakable majority, and one which cannot fail to be of public interest. The agents in Pittsburgh, Messrs, Straw & Morton, of No 24 Sixth street, have always a good stock on hand of this popular machine.

☞ The New York Times says of Amadeus: "It is probable that no better choice could have been made by General Prim when he gave a King to Spain than the young Italian Prince. At all events, now that he is the lawful King of Spain, there is no reason to suppose that anything could be gained by his overthrow. The friends of good government and of law and order should, therefore, wish King Amadeus all success in suppressing the turbulent factions who are perpetually fomenting disorder in Spain."

MELANGE.

☞ A Montevideo letter says Prof. Agassiz and several of his party were arrested there by an officer, who thought he had discovered an evil intent because they were filling their pockets with pieces of rock. All were taken to the guard-house, but soon released.

☞ There occurred recently, in a Western town, a very strange freak of lightning. It entered a house at the bottom and made a total wreck of everything in it except a family of six persons, who, strange to say, all escaped without injury. Even the lamp-burners were torn to pieces. The house was spread apart so that the rafters fell through, and the very beds in which the families were sleeping were torn to pieces.

☞ A telegram from Parkersburg, W. Va., of 22d ult., states that an engine attached to a way freight with passenger and pay car connected, going east from that place exploded her boiler near Walker's station, killing Milton Parker, engineer, and injuring Mike Eagan, fireman, so severely that he died a few hours afterwards. The boiler was thrown three hundred and fifty feet into Walker' Creek.—Three cars were thrown into the creek on one side of the bank, while the tender and running gear of the engine lies on the opposite side.

☞ A traveler in Paris, having occasion for a hair cutter, sent for one. At the appointed time an elegantly attired person arrived, and the gentleman sat down before his dressing case to prepare for the operation. The man walked round his "client" once or twice, and finally, taking his stand at some distance, attentively scrutinized the gentleman's face with the air of a connoisseur looking at a picture. "Well," said the traveler, impatiently, "when are you going to begin?" "Pardon me, sir," was the polite reply, I am not the operator, but the physiognomist!" "Adolphe!" he cried out, and a sleeved and aproned barber entered from the hall, "a la, Virgil!" With this laconic direction as to the model after which the gentleman's hair was to be arranged, the artist retired.

☞ A Naples telegram of last week says: A sound as of thunder accompanies discharges from Mount Vesuvius. The wind is blowing in this direction to-day, carrying dense clouds of smoke and ashes over the city. Ashes are falling in the streets like snow and has already reached a depth of two or three inches. The rumbling inside the volcano continues, but no fresh craters have opened and the lava has ceased flowing. A later telegram says: Showers of sand have succeeded the rain of ashes which was falling this morning. The eruption is now accompanied by fearful electric phenomena. Lightning darts incessantly from the summit of the volcano and quakings of the mountain are more violent and frequent. The thunder is continuous. Burning cinders, stones and scoriæ are falling fast and thick in the town of Nassa de Somma, which is entirely destroyed.

☞ The Mormon Conference at Salt Lake City on Sunday was attended by eight thousand persons including a large number of Gentiles. Brigham Young discoursed at length, thanking God that he was permitted to be with his people again. He hoped the time would come when he would have an opportunity before a court of justice of proving the falsity of the charges against him. He defied all the people of the world to show any sin against his moral character. He was glad neither he nor his brethren had the power of God, as they might be led to destroy all their enemies. They should demand from those who had been prosecuting them all the papers connected with cases, that posterity might know who their persecutors were. He praised the Deputy Marshal who had been in charge, denounced the lawyers, scolded the saints who had not paid their tithing promptly, and finally closed the conference with his blessing.

☞ The Carlist uprising in Spain, while it has assumed no more definite nor formidable shape, is giving evidence of vitality by sharp skirmishes, in which the insurgents are reported to have been routed in all instances by the warriors of King Amadeus. This intelligence is forwarded from Madrid, and may be colored by the friends of the reigning sovereign who admit, however, that the adherents of Don Carlos are concentrated in large numbers throughout the provinces of Navarre, Guipiscoa and Biscay. Marshal Serrano, the generalissimo of Amadeus, has arrived in the heart of the territory held by the Carlists. As this veteran is familiar with the topography of the country in which he has suddenly been called upon to operate, he is a formidable foe for the revolutionists to encounter, and if he attacks vigorously before the divided Carlist armies can concentrate, he may in a short time utterly crush the rising against the authority of the Savoyard King.

Tumor of 12 Years' Growth Cured by Radway's Resolvent.

BEVERLY, MASS., July 18, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried every thing that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter, and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS once or twice a week, as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safe-guard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their Sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Counter-Irritant influence extends throughout the system. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents, for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassfull. Eat good nourishing food, such as beef-steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit. J. WALKER, Prop'r.

OH, WOULD I WERE A CHILD AGAIN!

Sighs the weary and exhausted one, as the langour and lassitude of spring comes upon him. Come and receive vigor and strength from the wonderful South American Tonic

JURUBEBA.

Long and successfully used in its native country, as a Powerful Tonic and Potent purifier of the blood. It is found even to exceed the anticipations founded on its great reputation. According to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, it possesses the MOST POWERFUL TONIC properties known to MATERIA MEDICA.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

is a perfect remedy for all diseases of the BLOOD, ORGANIC WEAKNESS, GLANDULOUS TUMORS, DROPSY, SCROFULA, INTERNAL ABCESSES, and will remove all obstructions of the LIVER, SPLEEN, INTESTINES, UTERINE and URINARY ORGANS.

It is strengthening and nourishing. Like a nutricious food taken into the stomach it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and, by its powerful tonic and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

The Improved Grand Oroide

GOLD WATCHES.

$9, $12, $15, $18.

We have recently brought our Oroide Gold Metal to such perfection that it is difficult for the best judges to distinguish it from gold. The $9 watches are with patent escapement movements; in appearance, and for time, equaling a gold one costing $100. The $12 are full jewelled patent levers; equal to $150 gold watches. The $15 are the same as the last, but of a finer finish; equal to one costing $175. And the $18 watches are of a fine finish with full jewelled American movements, equaling gold ones worth $200. They are all in hunting cases; gent emen and Ladies' sizes; and warranted for time and wear, by special certificates.

Also, elegant designs of Gent's and Ladies' Chains, from $1 to $4; and Jewelry of all kinds.

Goods sent C. O. D. Customers permitted to examine the goods they order, before paying bill, on payment of express charges. When six watches are ordered at one time, we will send an extra watch of the same kind free. For further particulars send for circular. Address—

Representing the above first class Insurance Companies, acknowledged to be amongst the best and most reliable in the world, and representing a gross cash capital of nearly $16,000,000, I am enabled to take Insurance to any amount desired. Applications promptly attended to, and Policies written without delay, and at fair rates and liberal terms. Losses liberally adjusted and promptly paid. INSURE TO-DAY! By one day's delay you may lose the savings of years. Delays are dangerous, and life uncertain; therefore, Insure today! "One to-day, is worth two to-morrows,"—Quality, also, is of the utmost importance. The low priced, worthless article, always proves the dearest. The above companies are known to be amongst the best and wealthiest in the world.—"As ye sow that shall you reap."

Grateful for the very liberal patronage already bestowed, I hope—by a strict attention to a legitimate business—not only to merit a continuence of the same, but a large increase the present year.

Mr. STEPHEN A. CRAIG is duly authorized to take applications for Insurance and receive the premium for the same in adjoining townships.

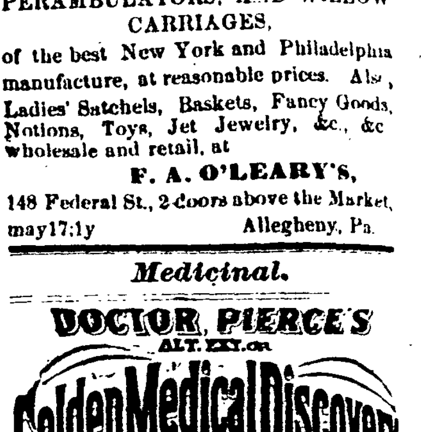
DOCTOR PIERCE'S

ALT. EXT. OR

Golden Medical Discovery



CURES DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above pointed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful purifying and invigorating medicine. [illegible] Liver or "Biliousness" [illegible] Liver [illegible] Constipation [illegible]

HALL'S

VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR

RENEWER

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation, which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard, and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, as it requires fewer applications, and gives the hair a splendid glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes." Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines. Price One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye

FOR THE WHISKERS.

As our Renewer in many cases requires too long a time, and too much care to restore gray or faded Whiskers we have prepared this dye, in one preparation; which will quickly and effectually accomplish this result. It is easily applied, and produces a color which will neither rub nor wash off. Sold by all Druggists. Price Fifty Cents.

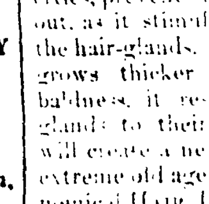
NASHUA, N.H.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,



For the relief and cure of all derangements in the stomach, liver, and bowels. They are a mild aperient, and an excellent purgative. Being purely vegetable, they contain no mercury or mineral whatever. Much serious sickness and suffering is prevented by their timely use; and every family should have them on hand for their protection and relief, when required. Long experience has proved them to be the safest, surest, and best of all the Pills with which the market abounds. By their occasional use, the blood is purified, the corruptions of the system expelled, obstructions removed, and the whole machinery of life restored to its healthy activity. Internal organs which become clogged and sluggish are cleansed by Ayer's Pills, and stimulated into action. Thus incipient disease is changed into health, the value of which change, when reckoned on the vast multitudes who enjoy it, can hardly be computed. Their sugar coating makes them pleasant to take, and preserves their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are ever fresh, and perfectly reliable. Although searching, they are mild and operate without disturbance to the constitution, or diet, or occupation.

Full directions are given on the wrapper to each box, how to use them as a Family Physic, and for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.
